LATE NEWS

84 on Trial In Hungary Economic Plot

BUDAPEST, Hungary—(AP)—Hungary started trying 84 persons, mainly Agriculture Ministry employees, on charges of fostering an economic plot. It was the nation's largest mass trial since the war.

The 200-page indictment said the accused sabotaged systematically "the progress of several hundred thousand peasants; used enormous amounts to buy luxury cars; supported rightists who formerly were landowners and the Catholic organization, Action Catholica.

Three defendants were said to have delivered documents to unnamed foreign powers. These are Elemar and Ferenc Kiss and Marton Gurka. All are charged with treason.

The men were arrested last Spring.

'Mercy Killer' Suspect Face Murder Trial

BRIDLINGTON, Eng.—(AP)—A Leeds University student, accused of the "mercy killing" of his widowed mother, a bedridden asthmatic, has been ordered held for trial on a murder charge.

The student, Eric Clifford Wigglesworth, 22, pleaded innocent.

The prosecution based its case on a statement it said the son made to a physician at the time of his mother's death and a letter he wrote his fiance which said: "I, her own son, killed her."

Witnesses testified Mrs. Eleanor Maud Wigglesworth, 48, suffered frequent violent attacks of asthma. In the early morning hours of July 27 a neighbor found the mother dead and Wigglesworth, clad in pajamas, standing by her bed.

Wigglesworth told a physician, the prosecution said, that he could not stand the sight of his mother suffering and that he had strangled her.

3,000,000 in Hired Work on Farms

WASHINGTON—(AP)—With farm wages at a new record high, approximately 3,000,000 persons were doing hired farm work on Sept. 1. This was reported yesterday by the Department of Agriculture, which said the figure is higher than at any time since 1943.

Total farm employment was put at 11,251,000. The figure includes farm operators and their families, whose numbers were said to be about the same as a year ago, plus hired hands.

Farm operators, the Department said, worked an average day of 11.4 hours, while their hired workers put in an average of 9.6 hours a day.

Maharaja Fasts To Appease Ganges

LUCKNOW, India—(UP)—The Maharaja of Denares, whose state is being overrun by the devastating flood waters of the Ganges, yesterday started a five-day fast to appease the holy river.

Thousands of Hindus gathered by the swollen stream and chanted hymns to the "Angry Mother Ganges." More than 1,000 villages in the Benares District have been washed away.

Hurricane Veers From Coast

NEW YORK—(UP)—A severe hurricane which buffeted Bermuda Monday was centered in the Atlantic about 400 miles east of Cape Cod last night, curving gradually northeastward.

Although there was no longer danger the storm would strike the United States or Canadian coasts, the United States Weather Bureau warned that "all shipping in its path should exercise extreme caution."

Wife, 18, Shoots Jealous Husband

HAMMOND, Ind.—(UP)—A young husband was lingering near death today and his 18-year-old wife admitted to police that she blasted him with a shotgun "because he loved me too much."

Mrs. Juanita Noel explained her husband's love had made him insanely jealous of her. She admitted shooting him twice last night when he accused her of going out with another man.

Dennis Noel, 27, was reported in critical condition at St. Margaret Hospital. He was hit in the shoulder and back by the shotgun blasts.

Police said Mrs. Noel told them her two-year marriage was "one big argument." She said she had left her husband twice.

Monday night, she said, Noel accused her of spending Sunday with another man instead of her mother, Mrs. Lillian Miller, as she claimed. Mrs. Miller confirmed her daughter's visit.

Mrs. Noel told police her husband flew in a rage and told her to get his shotgun from a closet.

"When he advanced toward me I pulled the trigger," she said. The couple's year-old son, Dennis, was in his crib in the room when the shooting occurred.

Mrs. Noel was held on an open charge pending the outcome of Noel's wounds.

Book Firm Broke Pact -Schoolman

Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc., of Chicago, was accused here yesterday of breaking an agreement not to use a list of school children's parents to personally solicit business in Atlanta.

The accusation came from M. E. Coleman, Assistant Superintendent of Atlanta Schools, at a one-day hearing by the Federal Trades Commission into complaints that the book firm had misrepresented facts in its sales of Encyclopedia Britannica, Jr.

Coleman, one of four Georgia schoolmen appearing as FTC witnesses, gave his testimony amidst cries of "I object!" and "Preposterous!" from opposing counsel and repeated instructions by the trial examiner to attorneys to speak one at a time.

Coleman said one of the Company's salesmen got the list of parents from him about four or five years ago on a promise not to use it for personal solicitation.

He said the list was withdrawn after the firm's explanation of certain complaints was not accepted by Atlanta school authorities.

Attempts by FTC Counsel John M. Russell to get Coleman to elaborate on the complaints were ruled out of order as hearsay evidence by Trial Examiner William L. Pack on an objection from James T. Welch and L. A. Scholl, counsel for the book firm.

Russell also met objections from Welch and Scholl when he asked State School Superintendent M. D. Collins to testify if he felt the book firm's method of soliciting was ethical.

Again the Trial Examiner sustained the objections on grounds the FTC inquiry was not on the ethics of the plan but on whether company representatives had made false statements when selling the Encyclopedia series.

Russell said a three-day hearing at LaGrange had produced information from School Principals Mary Duncan and Kate Wisdom that they had given the firm's representatives letters commending the book series but had not authorized them to use the letters for sales purposes.

"I resent that!" Welch said, rising to his feet.

"There will be no discussion back and forth between counsel," the Trial Examiner admonished.

E. R. "Slick" Moulton, member of the State's Professional Text book Committee and Principal of Pepperell Schools at Lindale, testified the Encyclopedia was exceedingly useful but not necessary to a child's education.

He added that a list of children's parents had been obtained by a company salesman from one school employee without his authority or consent. When Moulton began speaking of complaints parents had lodged with him, however, the Trial Examiner shut him off on a complaint from the book firm's counsel that the evidence was only hearsay.

"They aren't after the truth," Moulton complained to newsmen later. "They've got this thing so tied up in technicalities you can't say what did happen."

O. L. Wooten, former Principal of Riley School at Palmetto, testified he had given the firm a list of children's parents.

The hearing was one of a series being held by FTC throughout the nation. The book firm did not present witnesses but will do so after the FTC has made its case.

5,900,000 Persons On Public Pay Rolls

WASHINGTON — (AP) — More than one out of every ten working persons in this country is employed by government—Federal, State or local.

Census Bureau figures show 5,900,000 persons on public pay rolls in April, latest month for which data are available, out of a total of 58,330,000 persons employed throughout the nation.

Talmadge Chiefs Plan Assembly

Post-election meetings of Herman Talmadge's associates have shaped up leadership of the 1949 Georgia Legislature, according to reports from reliable sources yesterday.

Fred Hand, of Pelham, will get the job of Speaker of the House once again, probably without opposition, these sources say.

Other House posts will go to George L. Smith, of Swainsboro, Speaker Pro Tempore, and Joe Boone, of Irwinton, House Clerk.

In the Senate, Marvin Griffin will be President by virtue of his election as Lieutenant Governor. Sen. Spence Grayson, of Savannah, is slated for President Pro Tempore.

The only contest is expected in the job of Senate Secretary. Those expected to run are Mrs. Eloise Mitchell, of Dalton; Andrew Kingery, of Cochran, and George Stewart, of Atlanta, with the nod possibly going to Stewart.

Some close advisors to Herman Talmadge do not favor considering new business in a "lame duck" session. They also point out Bill Dean, an anti-Talmadge man, still

23 Votes Pledged to President

FORT WORTH, Texas—(AP)—Texas Democrats yesterday promised their 23 electoral votes to President Truman, ejected four anti-Truman delegations, and roared applause to a keynoter who called for total party loyalty.

When the States Rights delegations from Harris, Dallas, Tarrant and Harrison Counties were scratched from the Convention roll, they marched out of the hall—some carrying Thurmond banners — followed by delegations ners—followed by delegations from Rusk, Shelby, Gregg and Limestone Counties.

Individual members of these delegations, whose sympathies were with Truman, stayed in their seats.

The Convention, wrangling bitterly in the battle for control, had not come to the question of certifying either Lyndon B. Johnson or Coke R. Stevenson as the Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate.

C. C. McDonald of Wichita Falls, temporary chairman, keynoted the Convention with an appeal to fight the Republicans. He said:

The Convention approved a resolution creating a committee to make certain that all Democratic electors from Texas cast their ballots for the Truman-Barkley ticket.

The Truman forces won by two decisive test votes on the question whether to seat the anti-Truman

Police Comb N. E. Sector For Attacker

Atlanta and DeKalb County Police late last night blocked off the entire northeast section of Greater Atlanta in an effort to capture a man who allegedly attacked a 20-year-old religious worker within a few doors of her home, 1165 Briarcliff Rd., N. E.

The victim, was treated at Grady Hospital for head lacerations and then held for X-Ray observations.

DeKalb County Patrolmen C. M. Cloud and T. T. Wright, first to reach the scene, of the attack broadcast a lookout for the man. City patrol cars raced in to throw a net around the area.

Police immediately began watching all streets and checking busses and trolleys for suspicious persons in the area.

The victim told police she was struck with some heavy object by a man who had followed her from the bus stop to her home. She was unable to determine whether the man was white or Negro.

500 Demand Refunds In Near-Theater Riot

A near riot broke out early last night at the Hangar Theater near the Municipal Airport when a crowd of more than 500 demanded its money be refunded after Hapeville and Fulton County police closed the theater in a raid.

The demonstration, which continued for almost an hour, subsided only after it was reported that B. E. Gore, Manager of the theater, had promised refunds for ticket holders today.

Police closed the theater on direction of City officials after "hundreds" of Hapeville citizens complained of the showing what they called three "sub standard" and "obscene" pictures.

R. T. Reeves, City Attorney of Hapeville, said the films, advertised as a "triple bill,"—"Rama," "Strange People," and "This Nude World," which opened Monday, all had been disapproved for showing in Atlanta. Reeves said Hapeville maintained the same standard for pictures used by Atlanta. He said Gore had been warned against showing the films.

The theater was filled to capacity at the time of the raid, and more than 300 others were waiting in line outside for the second show to start. Most of the waiting patrons already had purchased tickets for the show, it was reported.

Reeves said that Manager Gore, who was arrested, would be booked on charges of disorderly conduct, showing pictures without a permit, and disorderly conduct-violating the the building code ordinance. The attorney said that disorderly conduct charges also would be booked against all other employees of the theater who also were arrested.

Shortly after police had closed the theater, a group of demonstrators threatened to "take" their money; others attempted to turn over a Hapeville police car.

The closure was directed by Hapeville police, with one patrol car of Fulton County police assisting.

There were no reports of property damage or personal injury as a result of the demonstration.

West Envoys Confer With Molotov; Italian Colony Dispute Sent to UN

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Western envoys met again in the Kremlin yesterday with Soviet Foreign Minister molotov in an effort to reach some kind of decision on the Berlin crisis.

Reliable sources said prior to the meeting the envoys wanted a decision one way or another—to abandon the talks that began July 30, or to take definite action on the crisis.

The East -West talks shifted to Moscow after meetings of the four military governors in Berlin had apparently ended in deadlock.

In Paris—Representatives of the Big Four powers failed today to reach an agreement on the future of Italy's prewar African colonies. They decided to send the issue to the United Nations General Assembly.

$100,000 To Speed Traffic

By ALBERT RILEY

The joint City-County Bond Commission yesterday approved immediate allocation of $100,000 to open up both ends of East Point Avenue in East Point to ease traffic congestion on the narrow, busy Roosevelt Highway.

Allocation of the $100,000 was requested by the County and endorsed by a letter from State Sen. Everett Millican, who could not attend the meeting.

East Point Avenue parallels the Roosevelt Highway but dead-ends north and south. Plans call for it to be opened up through Church Street to Ware Street on the north, and through Washington Street to the Roosevelt Highway on the south.

The Commission also approved an arrangement made by the County with the Georgia Power Company, Atlanta Gas Light Company, Southern Bell Telephone Company and Western Union Telegraph Company whereby the County will pay half and the utility companies will pay half of the cost of moving and correcting utilities on all except Federal aid phases of the traffic improvement program.

The Commission also voted to ask the County to proceed with early acquisition of right-of-way on the West By-pass from Fourteenth Street to Marietta Street as a unit.

W. S. Northcutt, County Attorney, told the Commission that work is "going fine" on the acquisition of right-of-way on the West By-pass, and he would be glad to get started on the area from Fourteenth to Marietta Street as soon as authorized.

Reportin, progress on the designs, surveys and acquisition of rights-of-way on eight phases of the program, Secretary-Engineer Mose Cox said he expected the North-South expressway leg from Brookwood Station to Merritts Avenue could be completed within a year, providing adequate steel is available for the construction work.

The contract for this project, from Merritts Avenue to Sixteenth Street, has been let to the MacDougall Construction Company.

Near the conclusion of the meeting, Frank Neely asked the Commission be more fully informed of design and plans for the downtown plaza over the railroad gulch between Peachtree and Pryor Streets. The City has announced bids will be received Sept. 27 for this project. Bond funds of $477,000 have been earmarked for the job.

Soviet-blocked city he did not believe "war is just around the corner" because of the Berlin crisis.

He predicted the United States would adopt "all other means at its disposal" before seeking a forceful showdown over the 82-day blockade. He expressed doubt the Russians "will make Berlin the final issue on the entire German problem."

Western Berlin was incensed over a Soviet court sentence of 25 years at hard labor for five anti-Communist demonstrators.

Russian authorities have returned to the American zone one of the two American air lift fliers who parachuted over the Soviet zone Monday.

U. S. Air Force Headquarters in Wiesbaden said the airman suffered a minor back sprain in jumping from a C-47 transport that developed engine trouble while flying food from Wiesbaden to Soviet-blockaded Berlin. The Air Force said it had received information the other flier, also was safe.

In London the British Government announced a three-phase rearmament program to prepare itpowers against dangers of the formation the other flier also was present international situation.

40 GIs Die In Korea Rail Crash

SEOUL—(AP)—The Army reported today 40 American soldiers were killed and about 60 injured when their train was rammed by another 75 miles south of Seoul last night.

At least two Koreans were killed.

The wreck occurred in U. S.-occupied South Korea, about 15 miles north of Taejon. A train carrying two coaches of occupation personnel to Seoul from Pusan was rammed from the rear by a train en route to Seoul from Mokpo.

Some of the soldiers were on the initial stage of their return trip to the United States. Others were returning to duty from furloughs in Japan.

The number of casualties was reported by Army physicians, who rushed to the scene aboard a hospital train. Twenty bodies were removed from the twisted wreckage and brought to Seoul along with 16 of the injured.

However, some of the uninjured passengers—arriving here later in the day—questioned the death figure. They said that, although the wreckage had not been cleared, they believed there were not more than 10 additional dead.

One of the passengers, M. E. Penry of Flushing, N. Y., said the impact sent one car "right through the one ahead—riding through at the level of the seat tops."

Penry, custodian for the Korean National Land Administration, was among 30 passengers in the rear coach of the Pusan train.

He said when he saw the other train bearing down on them, he shouted a warning. The train in which he was riding had stopped at the village of Napnin a few minutes earlier.

Penry said that while other passengers cleared out of the coach quickly, he ran forward waving a small pocket flashlight in an attempt to warn the soldiers in the two coaches ahead. Then he jumped from the right of way into a rice paddy when the other train struck.

Ship Strike Aimed at Foreign Ports; Oil Pickets Battle Police Tear Gas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Harry Bridges and his striking CIO longshoremen took on the Army today in a dispute over movement of military cargoes.

Bridges accused the Army of "strike-breaking" in the West Coast shipping strike and said the union would extend its strike tactics to foreign ports.

What Bridges objected to was the Army's move to sign up longshoremen without clearing them through the union's hiring halls.

Bridges, himself, appeared with 30 pickets at the Army's Fort Mason hiring office in San Francisco.

Other labor developments:

Oil—Violence broke out in the CIO oil workers' strike when about 1,000 pickets waged a brick and tear gas battle with police at the Richmond, Cal., plant of the Standard Oil Company. The battle was staged in an unsuccessful attempt to keep 1,400 AFL maintenance workers from entering the plant.

Trucking—The AFL teamsters' strike in New York was in flux with 3,800 new drivers reported joining the walkout and an agreement which might put 3,300 others back to work sent to a union local at Newark, N. J., for ratification. The total number of idle in the New York locals was 8,623.

A Milk Association spokesman said the strike was threatening milk supplies for schools and many retail stores because truck drivers refused to handle shipments of paper milk cartons.

Railroads — Representatives of five operating brotherhoods went into sessions with the carriers over demands for a third round of wage increases. Talks between the railroads and 16 non-operating unions continued. The unions are asking advances ranging from 14½ cents an hour to 25 percent.

Telephones — Talks seeking to avert a nationwide strike of equipment installers at telephone exchanges, set for Sept. 17, were moved from Chicago to New York. They resume tomorrow with Allan S. Haywood, a CIO Vice President, sitting in.

Politics—President Truman released a letter accusing Sen. Robert H. Taft, Republican, Ohio, of "putting the heat on" the National Labor Board in its consideration of complaints against the AFL international Typographical Union.

Printers—The New York Journal of Commerce announced it is printing despite a walkout of 82 composing-room and mailing-room employees by having reporters typeset their stories at electronic keyboards.

Must Enlarge U. S. Cabinet, Says Hoover

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Herbert Hoover said today the U. S. Cabinet must be enlarged.

The only living ex-President made a talk at the National Press Club in his capacity as Chairman of the "Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government."

He reported that the Commission, which will report to Congress in January, has made no final decisions, but "we are going to have to make some bold and drastic recommendations."

He said the tax burden caused by the war and its aftermath has become so great "as to seriously curtail the economic and social advance of the United States." He said he didn't point this out in criticism—but only to emphasize the need for making "every possible saving" in the Federal Government.

Concerning the Cabinet, Hoover said:

"The President must be relieved of a large amount of his administrative duties."

He said there are from 60 to 80 independent agencies which "head up to the President," in addition to the 10 great departments. But a President, he said, has so many other important duties that "the effect is that most of the independent agencies don't get looked at by anybody but the Bureau of the Budget."

Weary Fighters Flee as Fire Rages Out of Control in California Forest

OJAI, Cal.—(INS)—Weary fire fighters fled for their lives tonight when the costly fire in Los Padres National Forest raged out of control at three points to again threaten cabins and communities.

One hundred fifty volunteer firemen, working in the Wheeler Gorge area near the Ojai resort community, fled when a sudden shift of wind sent the blaze roaring through the canyon.

Officials said the fresh fires are not threatening the Ojai community.

Some 1,500 fire fighters checked the immediate threat to the community on the outskirts of the town after an estimated 60 cabins and homes had been destroyed by the blaze.

Bulldozer crews, backfiring flamethrowers, tank trucks and hundreds of volunteer firefighters, assisted by a tricky shift in the wind, beat the fiery menace two miles back into the adjoining hills where it raced on, uncontrolled.

After the battle with the blaze Fire Control Officer Warren Barnes expressed the opinion that the picturesque Ventura County town was in no further danger unless the wind suddenly shifted again.

Women and children, evacuated during the night when it appeared that the entire town would be destroyed, returned to their homes.

Meanwhile, the fire which the U. S. Forest Service estimated has burned more than 15,360 acres despite efforts of some 2,000 men to control it, continued to blaze in the drouth-ridden watershed of the Los Padres National Forest.

The fire was blamed in part for at least one death, and more than a score of firefighters were given emergency treatment after being overcome by heat.

Property damage was estimated at many millions. Besides the fory-esterday to save the town of Ojai Valley have been destroyed. Four buildings and three workshops on the million-dollar Rancho Rinconada were burned.

At least one building was destroyed at the California Preparatory School for Boys.

Louis Franklin Hall, 44, identified as a tool company associate, was found dead apparently of a heart attack while fighting flames that threatened his home.

The community of Meiners' Oaks, which has a population of approximately 1,500, was ordered evacuated today as the flames crept closer through scrub oak, chapparal and other dry vegetation.

Contempt Action Asked Against Spy Witness

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Spy probers voted last night to recommend that Steve Nelson, a Pennsylvania Communist, be cited for contempt of Congress for refusing to answer questions about atomic espionage.

Chairman Thomas, Republican, New Jersey, said the recommendation was approved by a House Un-American Activities Subcommittee and the full group will be asked to take action at its next meeting.

Thomas said Nelson refused "to answer the most pertinent question regarding efforts (by Russia) to obtain our atomic bomb secrets."

Nelson upon emerging from a closed-door session with the subcommittee distributed a statement in which he denounced the espionage investigation and declared it was politically motivated.

Earlier, Dr. Martin Kamen, a scientist who was dismissed from the Manhattan project for an "indiscretion," gave spy probers the full story of his wartime association with two Soviet officials in San Francisco.

Kamen denied he ever divulged atomic secrets.

Thomas said Nelson is a Communist Party organizer in western Pennsylvania whose real name is Steve Mesarosh. Thomas said Nelson is a native Yugoslavian and a naturalized citizen.

Nelson told newsmen the Committee "wanted to connect me with this atomic espionage business." He added: "If they had anything on me, they could have taken me into court. If you ever want to see semi-Fascism in operation, watch the Committee."

He said he refused to answer questions on the grounds of self-incrimination, including the question of whether he was a Communist. However, he told newsmen he is a Communist.

Thomas said earlier after the closed-door session Kramen "gave us very important testimony." Thomas termed Kamen "a very frank and co-operative witness."

Kamen told the Committee that he was asked to resign from the atomic bomb project in 1944 because of an "indiscretion." He said he has been unable to learn the charges against him but he assumed his dismissal stemmed from the fact he was entertained by two Soviet officials in San Francisco as a result of a favor he did them.

The 35-year-old scientist, now a professor at a St. Louis University, said the favor consisted of putting the Russsian diplomats in touch with an authority on the treatment of leukemia.

Constitutional Board For Roads Outlined

By JIM FURNISS

A suggested blueprint for a Constitutional Highway Board and facts about highways are being prepared by Deputy Highway Director Warren R. Neel and highway engineers for wide-scale distribution, it was learned yesterday.

Both Acting Gov. Thompson and Gov.-Nominate Herman Talmadge committed themselves during the campaign to creation of a constitutional board to "get roads out of politics."

Neel said the information would be distributed to every member of the Georgia House and Senate, to each leader of the new administration, to highway associations, newspapers and other organizations affected by the program.

Neel was Chief Engineer of the Highway Department at the time of its creation in 1919 and was instrumental in having the original department removed by law from control by the Governor's office.

Neel briefly outlined his own idea for a constitutional board as a starting point for discussion. According to Neel, the board would:

1. Be set up as a three-man board, members to have staggered terms of office, to be appointed by the Governor and to be confirmed by the Senate. Neel said he felt having a three-man instead of 10 or 20-man board would reduce sectionalism.

2. Every year hold public hearings in each of the five highway divisions to determine which roads are needed most. The information would be checked against Highway Department figures obtained by the plans division on volume of traffic, accidents, condition of roads and so on and would be the basis of a year's program.

3. A law allocating a definite percentage of total funds to each Congressional District on the basis of area, population and road mileage should be passed. Federal-aid funds are apportioned on this basis. A certain percentage of funds should be retained for use at the discretion of the board on unusually large projects such as bridges and expressways.

4. The director should have complete control of the organization as far as hiring and firing are concerned, thus removing the board and department employees from politics. The board would have only the power to approve the number of employees and their salaries.

5. The director should appoint the chief engineer with the concurrence of the board.

6. The board should revise the present system of Federal-aid roads, removing those whose traffic loads do not justify the expense of Federal and State Funds on a 50-50 basis.

. . . NEVER RUNS SMOOTH

River Leap Cools Off Lovers' Spat

PATERSON, N. J.—(UP)—True love, they say, never flows smoothly. John Savastani, 21, will attest to that.

Savastani made a date to meet his girl, Jean Hall, 19, on a street corner shortly after midnight. He waited and waited. Finally, at about 2 a. m., she showed up.

Waiting for her was a very angry boyfriend. He ranted and raved until Jean became frightened. She ran down the street to a bridge, climbed up on the railing and jumped into the Passaic River.

Savastani, startled by the course of events, jumped in right after her. The water was only about waist deep and it cooled off their tempers. The police fished them out. They have patched it all up.

PS Body Drops Phone Contest

A finish to court battles between the Georgia Public Service Commission and the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company over temporary phone rates was written yesterday in Fulton Superior Court.

The Public Service Commission failed to take advantage of its last opportunity to file exceptions to Judge Bond Almand's order allowing the telephone company to raise its rates $2,303,000 annually over the $1,412,000 previously granted by the Commission. New phone rates based on the order went into effect Aug. 6.

Politicos Eye 7 Primaries To Gauge Maine 'Trend'

By The Associated Press

Seven States held primary elections yesterday with interest centering on how large a vote the two parties can poll on the heels of a record-smashing Republican victory in Maine Monday.

Maine elected Rep. Margaret Chase Smith its first woman Senator with a margin of 94,651. The previous high GOP margin in the strongly Republican State was 82,481 in 1928.

Primaries were held yesterday in Minnesota, Colorado, Michigan, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Washington and Vermont.

Early New Hampshire returns gave a broad lead to former Congressman Sherman Adams seeking the Republican nomination for Governor over State Rep. John R. McIntire. Adams, backed by the party's State leaders, had better than a seven-to-one margin with 10 percent of the precincts reported.

Herbert W. Hill, who supported President Truman at the Democratic National Convention, held a slight lead over Harry Carlson for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in scanty early returns. Carlson was ousted as National Committeeman after bolting Mr. Truman. The President's name did not figure in the primary campaign, however.

In Massachusetts, Gov. Robert F. Bradford stepped out to a six-to-one lead over State Sen. Edward M. Rowe in meager first returns from their race for the Republican governorship nomination. The victor will face Paul A. Dever, unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

In Colorado, the Republicans will make a major effort to take the Senate seat now held by Edwin C. Johnson, Democrat. In yesterday's primary Gene Cervi, former Democratic State Chairman, was opposed to Johnson. Republicans found former Gov. John C. Vivian lined up against Will F. Nicholson, of Denver.

In Minnesota, Senator Joseph Ball sought renomination on the Republican ticket against two opponents. Candidates on the Democratic side were Mayor Hubert Humphrey, of Minneapolis, and James H. Shields, a Henry Wallace supporter.

In Michigan, President Truman had injected added interest by putting in a plug for former Rep. Frank Hook, unopposed for the Democratic nomination for the Senate seat held by Homer Ferguson, Republican, who has been active in spy cases. Ferguson won the Republican nomination without a contest yesterday.

Two Governors' battles were major interests in Washington and Vermont.

Governor Mon Wallgren, close friend of Mr. Truman, was opposed by former Gov. Clarence D. Martin in the Democratic primary. The winner may have another former governor, Republican Arthur Langlis, as his opponent in November.

Governor Ernest W. Gibson, of Vermont, tangled with Lt. Gov. Lee E. Emerson in the Republican gubernatorial race in that State.

Styles Bridges, of New Hampshire, and Leverettt Saltonstall, of Massachusetts, Republicans, were unopposed in their campaigns for renominations to Senate eats.

The Maine sweep was still the top topic of consideration in political circles. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, about ready to launch his presidential drive later this week, said the Republican victory was "very satisfying."

He said he hoped the victory would "be taken as a stimulus to even more intensive work by Republicans throughout the country." His aides said it indicated a Republican triumph nationally in November.

Dewey congratulated Rep. Margaret Chase Smith, who polled a record Maine majority to become the first woman Senator elected for a full six-year term without prior appointment.

The Republican presidential nominee, meanwhile, was reported to be planning to "shoot the works" on his opening campaign tour in States where close Senate races are expected.

He may make several rear platform speeches from his train in Iowa, Colorado and New Mexico, in addition to his scheduled major speeches.

Dewey touches off his drive in Des Moines, Iowa, next Monday, and then will head West. An Oct. 15 address at St. Paul was added to his itinerary.

President Truman received new union support yesterday when the CIO United Auto Workers followed the lead of its parent union by indorsing the Democratic nominee and his running mate, Alben W. Barkley. The UAW represents about one million automobile workers.

AFL President William Green predicted after a conference with Mr. Truman that November will bring out the largest labor vote in U. S. history. He told newsmen "a very large percentage of the AFL membership will vote for Mr. Truman."

Joseph Keenan, Director of Labor's League for Political Education, announced the AFL will spend $1,000,000 to defeat eight Senate and 113 House candidates deemed "hostile to labor." In a speech to the AFL electrical workers at Atlantic City, Keenan called for dollar contributions from AFL members.

President Truman will launch his all-out campaign this week with an address at Dexter, Iowa, Saturday night.

Bellhop's Help Jails Suspected Wife-Slayer

CINCINNATI—(AP)—A suspected wife-slayer, who said he joined a church to "pray my wife's soul out of hell," was taken into custody there Tuesday.

The man, Drafus Davis, 48, of Oteen, N. C., is under indictment at Asheville, N. C., for first degree murder in the strangulation slaying of his wife, Gertrude, 42.

Davis was identified to police by Roy L. Brigmon, of nearby Norwood, a brother of the slain woman.

Mrs. Davis' body was found about a month ago in the French Broad River, not far from Asheville. Dist. Sol. William K. McClean, of Ashville, reported Davis was taken into custody the day his wife's body was found and then released on $5,000 bond. Davis failed to show up at a hearing and was indicted for first degree murder, McClean reported.

Officers who questioned Davis after the arrest said the man declined to discuss his wife's death, but disclosed he had gone to Honolulu for "a little vacation."

Dect. Sgt. Harold Davis quoted the prisoner as saying he had gone "to Salt Lake City and joined a church to pray my wife out of hell."

The North Carolina man was arrested without incident at a hotel after a report was made by a bellhop.

The bellhop, Paul R. Haacke, 23, of West Covington, Ky., told this story:

As he relieved a doorman at the hotel, a man approached and asked for the location of a telephone with a "private line that can't be traced." The man was flashing $20 bills, and was directed to a lobby phone.

"Later, he offered me $50 to make a call 'that can't be traced,'" Haacke related. "Then he said, 'suppose you shoot somebody, what would you do?' Then I watched him dial."

"I called the number and asked the man who answered if the man who had talked to him was wanted on a serious charge. He said, 'He's wanted for first degree murder and has threatened to get me and my family.'"

Haacke then told of tracing Davis to a bar and of watching him until he returned to the hotel lobby.

The police waited until Davis had gone to his room and had been identified by Brigmon before taking him into custody.

Georgian Was First Woman to Serve in Senate

In connection with the nomination in Maine of a woman to the United States Senate—Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith—who will be first women ever elected in her "own rig' ," not having previously been appointed to fill a vacancy —recall that a Georgian was the first women to serve in the United Sfates Senate.

She was Mrs. Rebecca Felton, of Cartersville, noted Georgia author and suffrage leader and the widow of a former Congressman from the Seventh District. She was appointed Senator by Gov. Thomas W. Hardwick in 1922 following the death of Sen. Thomas E. Watson.

The present senior Senator, Walter F. George, was elected to succeed Sen. Watson, and when Congress convened later, he withheld being sworn in until after Mrs. Felton took the oath of office, addressed the august body, and served one day in the Senate before Sen. George was sworn in.

Mrs. Hattie Carraway, of Arkansas, was appointed in 1931 to succeed her husband in the Senate at his death, and was subsequently elected to two full terms.

Sheriff Finds Still in Own Home

LEXINGTON, N. C.—(INS)—It's a sad commentary when the sheriff of the county discovers a whiskey still in his own basement, but the people of Davis County are only amused.

The Sheriff, John G. Fritts, bought a house in Davis County several years ago. Yesterday he received a "hot tip" to look in the basement of his house.

Fritts didn't even know the house had a basement. He finally found that the cellar was entered by pulling up a fireplace hearth.

In the secret basement, the Sheriff found a complete whiskey still with a capacity for about 50 gallons. The still was built so the smoke would go up the regular house chimney.

Fritts said he didn't think the still had been very profitable to the former owner because he had to pay 13 years back-taxes on the house when he bought it.

The machine, which projects images on the ceiling of a room, is equipped with a library of 18 books photographed on 35 mm. film. Bill Murphy, First Vice President of the Decatur Club, left, explains the projector to Mrs. Maude Burrus, DeKalb County Librarian, seated, as George Spurlin, President of the club, looks on.

MASS MEETING SET

15 East Point Candidates To Air Issues in Forum

Fifteen candidates seeking offices in East Point's Sept. 21 Primary will take part in a forum discussion of issues pertaining to the election at a huge mass meeting at 8 p. m. tomorrow night in the East Point Municipal Auditorium.

The candidates, most of whom are seeking election as Councilmen, will be asked to state their positions on such controversial issues as taxes, legalized sale of whiskey and licensing of pin-ball machines.

Col. Harold Sheats, former Fulton County Attorney, will act as Moderator and will ask each of the candidates questions regarding their platforms.

The meeting, sponsored by "Make Your Vote Count" Committee of the East Point Chamber of Commerce, will be open to all citizens of East Point. Phil Edmondson is president of the East Point Chamber.

Four of the candidates expected to attend the meeting are running for the office of Mayor now held by J. Henry Blair, who is seeking re-election. The remainder of the candidates are running for posts as Councilmen.

Georgia Officials Deny Knowledge Of Killer Suspect

Georgia prison officials yesterday said they had received no information that a second Negro involved in the Ormond Beach, Fla., moonlight murders a month ago had been traced to a Georgia prison.

The Volusia County, Florida, Sheriff's Office at Ormond yesterday said a Negro named as the killer by Clarence Alburty had been traced to a prison in this State. Deputy W. H. Freeman, of Ormond, was quoted by the Associated Press as saying his office was awaiting a reply from Georgia authorities.

Florida authorities have not revealed the name of the second man sought in connection with the Aug. '4 slaying at Ormond Beach of Miss Mary Hucks, of East Point, and Gregory Blount, University of Kentucky student. Alburty, also a Negro, allegedly signed a confession on Aug. 28 that he acted as lookout while a companion killed the pair.

Youth Nets Broken Jaw

John Kanelidis, a Georgia Tech student from Savannah, yesterday was recovering at Lawson General Hospital from a broken jaw as police sought a rebuffed swain.

Kanelidis had escorted a girl to a Pine Street night club Saturday when a tall young fellow came up and asked the girl to dance, Dets. R. E. Little and W. L. Gower reported.

The girl refused, detectives said, but the tall swain insisted. She just as firmly refused. Then the tall youth struck Kanelidis, breaking his jaw and knocking out a tooth.

The reason the disturbance was not reported earlier?

Well, Kanelidis was having trouble talking.

Ex-Policeman In New Arrest

Maurice Ellis, 40, one-time member of the Atlanta Police Force, who recently was released under $7,000 bond for multiple burglaries, has been rearrested on charges of suspicion of automobile larceny, City Dets. George Barrett and L. H. Satterfield said yesterday.

Ellis, who was discharged from the Police Force two years ago, is charged with larceny of a 1947 Chevrolet, which was reported stolen Sept. 4 by Mrs. C. W. Beard, of 1016 Washington St., S. W., the detectives said.

Efforts are being made to determine if Ellis is connected with other auto larcenies since his release on the burglary charges, the detectives said.

GEN. HARMON HITS ERRORS

Anzio 'Siege' Blamed On Faulty Intelligence

NEW YORK—(AP)—Maj. Gen. E. N. Harmon says bad Allied intelligence turned the 1943 Allied landings at Anzio, Italy, into a "murderous siege" that cost 30,000 casualties.

At that time Harmon commanded the First U. S. Armored Division which spearheaded the eventual breakthrough from the beachhead.

In an article appearing in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post, Harmon said he had "no desire to be a Monday morning quarterback . . . yet honesty compels me to report that top-level intelligence was responsible in this instance for some inaccurate crystal gazing . . .

"One error was in predicting that there would be active opposition to the Allied landing. There was almost none . . . but the major error was one which made Anzio an unexpected battle to the death. Allied intelligence assumed—on what evidence I do not know—that the Germans were so hard pressed they would not be able to bring reinforcements of more than two divisions from Northern Italy until at least 16 days after the Anzio landings."

Instead, he said, the Germans had anticipated such a landing and had prepared a flexible and ambitious program to meet it, so that "in a few days' time there were 70,000 crack troops assembled for the purpose of containing our invasion."

The landings the General said, were aimed at weakening German resistance on the U. S. Fifth Army's main front at Casino, but "few if any troops were withdrawn" from that sector.

The Trumanites won the first 1,339 to 757 and the second 1,349 to 734.

The Convention had been in session five and a half hours before the Truman group broke down the opposition. It elected C. C. McDonald of Wichita Falls, Texas, temporary chairman.

After the second roll call vote trounced the State's Righters 1,349 to 734, J. Hart Willis of Dallas went to the microphone.

He announced he would walk out with the Harris County delegation.

Anti-Truman delegates began marching out, waving Confederate flags.

R. W. Milner, chairman of the Harris County delegation, followed at the microphone. He said no rump convention would be held.

"We will leave Fort Worth quietly and go home," he said.

Dixiecrats, Wallaceites Voting Right Favored

TALLAHASSEE, Fla — (UP) — The Florida Senate, with only one dissenting vote, yesterday gave rapid approval to a bill which would open the November General Election ballot to States' Rights Democrats and the Progressive Party.

The Senate adjourned until 10 a. m. today after adopting the measure and sending it to the House by a 33-to-1 vote with Sen. Ed Fraser of MacClenny casting the negative ballot.

As adopted by the Senate, the measure would add the names of States' Rights Candidate Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Progrssive Party Nominee Henry Wallace to the ballot.

U. S. 'Again on Guard' --Gov. Dewey to World

ALBANY, N. Y.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said yesterday America must be strong militarily that "no aggressive power will ever be misled into attacking us."

Against a background of the Western Powers' strained relations with Russia, the Republican Presidential nominee pledged every precaution to avoid another war, and then added:

"We intend to have an establishment of highly trained military personnel which will be ready for any emergency, as the best available insurance against war."

Dewey expressed his views in a proclamation setting Saturday as Air Force Day in New York State.

"In the last war," Dewey said, "millions of American men and women helped to make the United States Air Force an invincible weapon in the cause of our freedom. . . .

"Today we are again on guard. We propose to do everything within the compass of human ability to avoid another war, everything compatible with our national safety and the preservation of freedom."

It was the second time in a week that Dewey has taken steps to make it plain to Russia that America stands against aggression.

GEORGIA SCIENTISTS—Many Georgians were noted at the centennial convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science now in progress in the Nation's capital. They include Prof. G. L. Carver, geneticist, of Mercer University; Dr. F. W. McRae, Atlanta surgeon, and Miss J. I. Stearns, former Atlanton, now physicist at the U. S. Naval Observatory in Washington, D. C.

CANCER CONTROL HEAD—was stationed in Atlanta during was seationed in Atlanta during the war as head of the Medical Division of Malaria Control in War Areas, was named yesterday as head of the new epidemiology section of the Cancer Control Branch of the National Cancer Institute. A United States Public Health Service physician, Dr. Gilliam, was appointed to his new position by Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele.

Drifting Ship, 5 Aboard, Taken in Tow in Gulf

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — The Coast Guard said yesterday that the 7,000-ton victory ship adrift in the Gulf of Mexico since early Monday with a crew of five, has been taken into tow and is proceeding to Beaumont, Texas.

The Coast Guard said a line was made fast to the Trinity Victory by the Tug M. Moran which came to the scene from Port Arthur, Texas. Earlier the vessel had broken its towline from the tug Eugene F. Moran.

Thompson Asks Ruling On Amendments Printing

Acting Gov. Thompson yesterday asked the Attorney General's office for a ruling on the legality of printing all 17 constitutional amendments in more than 10 newspapers in Georgia.

The amendments were offered by Thompson to 128 Georgia newspapers before the September 8 primary to be printed nine consecutive weeks at a price of $1,803 for each paper.

The request for the ruling followed a statement by State Auditor B. E. Thrasher some days ago that he would need an opinion from Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook before approving payments for the advertising out of state funds.

In Thompson's letter to the Attorney General, he pointed out that he abided by the provision carried in the amendments, themselves, to the effect that he was directed to publish them in one or more newspapers in each congressional district and also in the newspaper in which sheriff's advertisements are published.

The State Auditor, however, said a statute concerning publication of amendments provides that specific directions concerning publication in the amendments is surplusage and does not alter the provisions that such advertisements are to be run in only one paper in each congressional district.

MORNING COUGHS
Often Due to Bronchial Asthma
Do you cough and cough, especially mornings and at night? At times do you feel like you were tearing yourself to pieces trying to get rid of strangling mucus and still you choke, gasp for breath, wheeze and often can't sleep? The cause of these devitalizing symptoms may be recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma. In such cases, the very first dose of MENDACO, a physician's prescription, usually starts almost instantly to help relax that clogged up stuffy feeling in the bronchial tubes, then helps Nature loosen and remove thick, strangling phlegm. This helps you get good fresh air into your lungs and promotes restful sleep. MENDACO is not a smoke, injection or spray, but is a tasteless internal medicine which works through the blood, thus reaching the bronchial tubes and lungs. Ask your druggist for MENDACO now. Satisfaction or money back guaranteed.

WOMAN'S WORK IS NOW MAN'S TOO—Ironing long considered the exclusive chore of the "little woman," has been taken over by the man of the family in some Atlanta households. It's easy (well, sort of), the stronger sex finds, when it's done with an automatic iron. Here, Jerry Brown, of 580 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E., removes wrinkles from a shirt at an automatic laundry, while his wife, right, and Mrs. E. R. Goffredson look on approvingly. "A good idea," they say in unison.

Constitution News Carrier Honored as 'A Real Hero'

A young Constitution news carrier, credited with saving the lives of eight persons last week when he roused them from a burning house, was presented a citation yesterday by the Boys and Girls Work Committee of the Atlanta Kiwanis Club.

Nolan Lassiter, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Lassiter, of 35 Rockyford Rd., N. E., termed "a real hero," was the first youngster to be so honored by the Kiwanis Club. He received his citation from Faber Bollinger, Chairman of the Boys and Girls Work Committee, and was congratulated by W. W. Brookes, President of the Club.

Nolan was delivering papers early on Sept. 8, when he noticed smoke rising from the back of the house at 2093 Ridgedale Rd., N. E. He walked around to the rear and found the kitchen window "lighted up with flames."

The boy hammered at the door until he awakened the Wallaces, their four small daughters and two other occupants of the house.

"We certainly would have been caught in the fire," said Mrs. Wallace, "if it hadn't been for Nolan's quick thinking."

The North Side Kiwanis Club met with the Atlanta Club yesterday and helped celebrate the birthday of President Brookes. Brookes was given a birthday cake decorated w[illegible] the Kiwanis emblem.

Hunter To Run For Assembly As Progressive

Floyd Hunter, recently ousted from the position of Executive Director of the Community Planning Council for his political activities in support of the candidacy of Henry Wallace, will run on the Progressive Party ticket for Representative from the Fifth Congressional District.

Hunter's candidacy was announced by the Georgia People's Progressive Party's Atlanta Committee. He will oppose Rep. James C. Davis, Democratic nominee, in the Nov. 2 general election.

A Committee statement declared, "Hunter has courageously stood for progress for the whole community of metropolitan Atlanta."

The announcement added a petition to gather signatures of 7,000 registered voters "would be circulated in behalf of Hunter."

Hunter, former Regional Director of the USO and Agnes Scott College sociology professor, in an official statement denounced "ghettoes for one-third of our people in the Atlanta area, rural slums outside our City, and prices rising in our district proportionally faster than any other area in the country."

B-36s To Fly Over Atlanta Air Force Day

Five huge B-36 bombers will fly over Atlanta Saturday morning as part of the nationwide observance of Air Force Day.

The Army Air Force announced the bombers would reach Atlanta at 8 a. m. Augusta at 8:39 a. m., Charleston, S. C., at 9:15 a. m., and Savannah at 9:39.

Fifty B-29 bombers will fly from overseas bases to 25 points in the United States. One trip will be the 4,561-mile hop from the Lagens Air Force Base in the Azores via Savannah to General Mitchell Field in Milwaukee, Wis.

The air demonstration is designed to show both the vulnerability of the United States to air attack and the United States aerial might.

POLICE BLOTTER

NO VIOLATION—There may be no such thing as a perfect crime, but police records yesterday showed an accident involving three vehicles in which no traffic laws were violated. A truck traveling west on Spring Street at Walton met another truck headed north, Sgt. Ralph Hulsey reported. Both machines were in outside traffic lanes. As they passed a spare tire on the side of one truck dislodged a case of soft drink bottles on the other. The soft drinks landed on the fender of an auto driven by Mrs. Lillian Lorraine Cooley, of 2270 Cascade Rd., S. W., causing damages estimated at $15. Sgt. Hulsey looked the situation over, scratched his head, and wrote in his traffic report: "No ordinance violated."

CAR STRIPPED—His automobile broke down Sunday on the Old River Road near Adamsville, S. L. Boone, of 800 Washington St., S. W., told police yesterday. He left it there and when he returned someone had stripped it of all five wheels, the radio, heater, lights, tire pump, and a set of wrenches. Even the windshield wiper was gone, Boone said, along with four shirts and four pairs of trousers he had left in the rear seat.

SPECTATOR—W. P. Appling, Jr., of Rt. 12, Atlanta, told police he noticed a young Negro boy watching intently while he attempted to repair the headlights on his car on McDonough Boulevard. When the lights were repaired and he had reached home, Appling missed his wallet containing $10. He said the youth probably removed the wallet while he was fixing the lights.

BURGLARY—Burglars entering the Parker Sno-White Laundry at 484 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E., dumped bundles of laundry over the floor and left a general disorder behind them, Dets. W. E. Petty and H. F. Brown reported. They took about $75 and then dumped the cash drawer with receipts, etc., among the laundry bundles.

Palsy Society To Meet Today

The regular meeting of the Cerebral Palsy Society of Georgia will be held at 2 p. m. today at the Elks Lodge, 736 Peachtree St., N. E. Dr. Harriet Gillette, Medical Director of the Crippled Children League of Georgia, will give another in a series of talks on cerebral palsy.

Dr. M. D. Collins, State Superintendent of Schools, has called a second meeting of superintendents of Atlanta, Decatur, Fulton and DeKalb County schools for 10:30 a. m. Saturday in the State Office Building to discuss the possibility of obtaining special classes for cerebral palsied children in this area. Mrs. T. J. Lowe, Mrs. John D. Faver and Mrs. Mills B. Lane, of the Cerebral Palsy Society, will meet with the superintendents.

Tax Rate Hike

CALHOUN—Rising costs of operating the city schools here brought about a vote by the Mayor and Council to increase the valuation placed on all city property for taxation purposes by 50 percent. The increases will apply to all property subject to taxation except automobiles, bank stock, and public utilities, the valuation of that property being fixed by law.

Many Never Suspect Cause of Backaches
This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MOULTRIE—G. O. Hawks may consider buying his wife a ring, but he's quit looking for the one she lost.

Mrs. Hawks, of Moultrie, told her husband she dropped the ring down the drain pipe.

"Easy," said Hawks. He reached down the pipe. His arm stuck. A neighbor, a plumber a crowbar and three hacksaws combined to free Hawks after an hour's hard work.

The ring is still missing.

Those in the Know—pick DYNAFLOW

THIS is simple fact: No automotive development in a generation has received acclaim so nearly unanimous as that accorded Dynaflow Drive.

And the reasons are plain as the fact:

First—when you handle a ROADMASTER with this new transmission you find a silkiness, a versatility and ease that win your heart instantly and without further explanation.

Then — when you look into the principles of Dynaflow — into how it works — it stands out as the logical engineering answer to what a modern transmission should be.

Here oil takes the place of both the clutch and the usual low, second and third gears.

Here five ingenious elements in a tightly sealed drum automatically give you the power step-up you need for every driving condition.

You just press the gas treadle — and whether you are starting, climbing or cruising, the power plant itself picks the precise power-ratio that's called for.

You cruise — you stop — you start up — and no gears ever shift, either manually or automatically. In all your normal forward driving, your pressure on the gas treadle does everything.

So the technical expert and the typical motorist get together on Dynaflow Drive.

In theory and in practice it's so far ahead that the smart move is obvious:

TRIAL SCHEDULED—Trial of City Patrolman J. T. Mitchell on charges of operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicants is scheduled tentatively for the meeting of Council's Police Committee at 7:30 p. m. today. Ald. Ed A. Gilliam is chairman of the committee.

LeCRAW CERTIFIED—The last official act of Ernest Brewer, Mayor Hartsfield's Executive Secretary, as Secretary of the Fifty-second (Fulton County) Executive Committee, was to certify the nomination of former Mayor LeCraw as the successor to Sen. G. Everett Millican. A new committee will be named by LeCraw. Millican ran as one of the four horsemen of annexation. He and three others were beaten in last Wednesday's primary.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS—Several important proposals are among the 20 rezoning petitions the City Planning Commission is slated to consider at 2 p. m. today . . . routine matters are scheduled for study by City Council's Water Committee at 2:30 p. m. today.

VOCATIONAL RECORD SEEN—P. E. Babcock, Executive Director of the Vocational Education Service for Atlanta and Fulton School systems, yesterday set his sights on an all-time enrollment record for the 1948-49 school term. He said total enrollment including full time, part time, and evening class students totaled 11,000 for 1947-48, but the schools are prepared for 15,000 for the new terms. He also announced several additions to the faculty and an expansion of various services.

MRS. WESTON PLANS TRIP—Mrs. Fannie May Weston, retired Secretary of the Atlanta Board of Education, is planning a two-months tour which will include Washington and New York.

MAYOR'S DAY—Mayor Hartsfield returned to his desk yesterday after a business trip to handle a heavy mail and receive a group of callers at his offices. He attended a meeting of the joint Atlanta-Fulton County Bond Commission during the afternoon.

SCHOOL AID—Atlanta's Parks Committee yesterday agreed to permit the School Department to use approximately two acres of the Maddox Park area for construction of a Negro elementary school if there are no legal barriers in the way. City Atty. Jack C. Savage will be asked if the City may legally allow such use of the property and if it can, Council Monday will be requested to approve the arrangement.

APPROVES ANNEX PLANS—$2,500,000 Courthouse annex was given yesterday at a special meeting of the Fulton County Commission. The building will be erected on Central Avenue, in the rear of the Courthouse. The Juvenile Court and the County Jail will not be included, as was originally intended, in the Annex. The present building housing the Juvenile Court must be torn down to make room for the annex, and the Commission must find quarters for it. Members of the architectural firms of Barilli & Humphreys and Perkins, Toombs, who drew up the plans, said it would take another five months to complete them and construction would start 60 to 90 days later.

HENZLER PAROLED—William Henzler, ex-Nebraska policeman convicted in Fulton Superior Court of fatally striking Thomas P. Tumlin over the head with a bottle during a Halloween night celebration in the lobby of a downtown hotel, has been paroled after serving about half of his sentence. At a hearing yesterday, Henzler told the Board of Pardons and Paroles that it was not he who struck Henzler. He said he understood Tumlin was struck by a member of Henzler's party named Archie Babson. He said he understood Babson is traveling in the West. He was represented by Atty. Ward Matthews.

Kentucky Cleans Up Its Fair

The Kentucky State Fair is under way this week in Louisville.

In most respects, it is a typical fair, complete with exhibits, rides and sideshows.

In one way, however, it differs from past Kentucky State Fairs and from hundreds of others which will be in operation over the nation in the weeks ahead: The gambling concessions are run by homefolks!

"The midway, usually the scene of 'pyramiding,' 'roll-downs' and other forms of chicanery by which the sucker lost his money on the spinning wheels, was placed this year under the control of Louisville civic clubs," explains the Courier-Journal. "Club members and their wives took over the booths. . . . Play was limited to nickels and dimes, with all prizes in merchandise. Signs everywhere proclaimed that the proceeds were going to the Optimist Boys' Club. . . . The civic club 'barkers' announced that the customer was going to get an even break this year and that the money was to be used for a worthy cause."

For a change, we might add.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars are taken out of legitimate trade channels annually in local fair weeks throughout the nation.

Once a year police departments, usually alert to such swindlers and con-men, let down the bars and anything goes. The predatory hoodlums who follow carnivals about the country reap a rich harvest. And legitimate business suffers.

We congratulate the Kentucky State Fair Association upon their efforts at reform.

And we trust there is truth in the report that, if civic club operation of games-of-chance proves successful in Louisville, "it probably will be followed nationally."

Nothing has done more to bring that great American institution, the fair, into disrepute than the parasitic vermin who cheat its patrons without regard to local laws or human mercy.

Know Your Politics?

One of our valued readers called up in some excitement to say that he was interested in our editorials about citizens thinking and talking about politics and issues in between elections—and not furiously seeking a little information a few days before the election.

He had, he said, started asking friends in his profession and some of his clients questions about Georgia politics. The results dismayed him.

"I thought it natural," he said, "that any citizen of Georgia in a responsible position would know not merely who his two Senators were but whom they had succeeded."

Acting on that presumption he set out and began to ask.

The first 24 he asked didn't know. They were 10 insurance executives and 14 lawyers. He asked if we didn't think that was pretty bad. In a way it is.

One of our problems is that we have allowed to grow up a sort of concept that politics, and therefore government, belongs to specialists and that the people can't know anything about politics. So, the average person doesn't try to learn about politics. At election time they get very busy, but it is a safe bet that many persons know nothing at all about the person for whom they vote.

Sen. Walter F. George, technically, succeeded a woman, Mrs. Thomas Felton, of Bartow County, who served just two days. She was named to the Senate after the death of Tom Watson in 1922. Mrs. Felton was almost 90 years of age.

Gov. Tom Hardwick ran against Walter George, then Associate Justice of the State Supreme Court, in a special election to fill the vacancy. Sen. George won with 318 unit votes.

Sen. Richard B. Russell ran against Charles D. Crisp, veteran Congressman, for the vacancy caused by the death of Sen. William Harris, and in the primary of 1932, for the full term, Dick Russell was an easy winner. The brief unexpired term had been filled by the late John D. Cohen.

Politicians serve apprenticeships. The good ones move on up. It is a little startling that so few Georgians apparently know the background of the two United States Senators, both of whom have served ably and well.

Reassessing Property in Virginia

(Editor's Note: M. L. St. John is on vacation. The following article, by the State Capitol Correspondent of the Louisville Courier-Journal, is reprinted here because many persons believe Georgia needs an over-all tax assessment revision such as he describes.)

Prior to 1946, general property assessment in Virginia was as bad as, if not worse than the present situation in Kentucky. Forty of the 100 counties had not been reassessed for more than 25 years. The ratio of assessed value to full value ranged from 4/10 of 1 percent to 250 percent. Thousands of parcels were not on the tax rolls.

The 1946 General Assembly of Virginia ordered a four-year plan of reassessment. It divided the counties in four population groups. It ordered the most populous group to reassess in 1947, the next in 1948, the next in 1949, and the last in 1950. But the smallest counties could reassess ahead of schedule if they wanted to. For 50 years or more, Virginia counties had been assessed by the flim-flam method, or the nail-keg method.

Dr. John H. Russell, before his death May 14, was director of research for the Virginia Department of Taxation, and to him belongs credit for the plan that is working today. It was Dr. Russell who exposed details of the flim-flam and nail-keg methods of assessments.

Flim-flam assessment, Dr. Russell discovered, was the process by which assessors from each magisterial district met at the courthouse some rainy day and copied last year's land book into this year's land book, thereby perpetuating in ink the inequalities they were supposed to erase.

But nail-keg assessment, Dr. Russell continued, was the process by which the local assessor took the land book to a country store in his district, seated himself upon a nail keg, and asked each loafer present to declare the value of his own property, and to guess at the value of his neighbor's property.

But what is the Virginia plan that is working today? It is the essence of simplicity.

The 1946 Assembly gave the Department of Taxation $10,000 a year to recruit and train a staff of property appraisers. Fred C. Forberg, supervisor of appraisals, told me he interviewed 500 men before he selected the 38 he wanted. The youngest is 24, the oldest is 56, and the general average lies between 30 to 36 years of age. Three out of four are college men, and each man was familiar with at least one phase of general property.

The men got one week of paper training at Richmond. Then they were asked to appraise 150 parcels of selected property in Richmond, ranging from a tenant house to a large factory. Next, they were sent to Dinwiddie County for three days of field work under Jim Rose, an old-time real estate man with most of the answers. The training was topped off by the month of work under a senior appraiser already in the field.

The State lends these appraisers to counties that request them, and the counties pay them from $340 to $400 a month, plus travel. To date, only seven counties have refused this assistance, but to offset this somewhat, four counties sent their own men to Richmond to take the training course.

How do these State appraisers work? In company with the local assessor, they visit each parcel of property in the county. They are equipped with a manual of standards, an aerial photograph of the section, and forms for the entry of detailed property descriptions. Standing on the property, they appraise it at 100 percent, based on values prevailing 12 months before Pearl Harbor. And, with the help of the owner, they mark his boundary lines on the aerial photograph.

When the State appraisers get through, they deliver to the local assessor a complete appraisal of the entire county at 100 percent of 1940-41 value. Then the appraisers go to the next county on their schedule.

And what is left for the local assessors to do after the State men leave? First, they hear appeals. Then county officials determine how much of the 100 percent value they need to produce enough revenue to balance their budget. Maybe 60 percent is all they need. In that case, they apply a county-wide ratio of 60 percent to the full-value appraisal, then apply the local tax rates against the reduced figure. Thus every man's property is assessed at the same value, reduced to the same value, and taxed at the same value.

Virginia is better than half through the four-year program. The job is costing each county around $13,000, on the average. The first half of the plan has produced a 28 percent improvement in assessment, and added thousands of unlisted parcels to the tax rolls.

But, above all, nobody is mad. On the contrary, C. H. Morrissett, the Commissioner of Taxation, told me the voluntary plan of State-county co-operation is working to the pleasant satisfaction of both sides.

JOHN MARVIN RAST

Draw nigh to God, and He will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, yet sinners and purify your hearts, ye double-minded. Be afflicted, and mourn, and weep; let your laughter be turned to mourning, and your joy to heaviness. Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and He shall lift you up.—James 4:8-10.

Sin is a wedge separating from God. The revelation of the prophets is that He cannot look upon evil. Think not, though, that there is no hope for the sinner. On every page of Holy Writ God calls to the truly penitent as in this passage of Ezekiel's: "For I have no pleasure in the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God: wherefore turn yourselves, and live ye." No other miracle of grace is required, naught but the will to turn.

Dear Father, Thou knowest my heart. Thou knowest that I love Thee. Freely now I come to Thee, fully yielded to Thy bidding. Accept, cleanse, redeem through Christ. For His name's sake.

A Guy Gets Out of the Bottle

Within a few days I am going to be on a program of the Alcoholics Anonymous chapter with a very small guy who got pretty close to dropping off the edge of the world.

He had been in the bottle, as they say, for a good many years. He was a religious person, but religion couldn't help him. Neither could his family. Nor could his friends. They all talked with him and made him see very plainly that he was very close to losing his job, his family, his life. He knew all that.

But, in this battle with booze, the decision has got to come from the inside. After that the help of family and friends can do some good. Until the person involved, deeply and earnestly wants to quit, neither religion nor love can help. Nor can "cures" in institutions unless they, too, are accompanied by the will to quit and psychiatry.

Now, he is out of the bottle and a happier, prouder fellow you never saw. He has done something big.

Alcoholics, once they get out of the bottle, are almost invariably fine persons. They are happy, tolerant, and filled with a sort of missionary zeal to stay out of the bottle and help someone else out of it.

Problem One of the most encouraging features of the problem of alcohol is the attention being paid it. More and more persons realize that "thou shalt not" is not an answer.

More and more study, of a scientific nature, is being devoted to it. A great deal has been learned. Just as some persons can't eat strawberries without getting sick; just as others can't be around dogs without breaking out into great red blotches and becoming sick; just as some children can't eat chocolate or wheat bread, just so, alcoholics can't drink.

Answer One of the toughest, but simplest, things for a person trying to quit, is to realize there is nothing more wrong with saying "Thanks, I can't drink because I am an alcoholic," than there is in saying "Thank you, I can't eat green peas. I am allergic to them." Just as a diabetic can't take sugar, so an alcoholic can't take a drink. It's that simple. An alcoholic just can't take one.

There are various forms of alcoholism. It ranges from three-day binges to the habit of taking a few sips every day. Or nearly every day.

"Why?" We are realizing that there usually is a reason why people drink. The alcoholic doesn't have fun. His, or her drinking is misery.

Right now I know a guy who is in the bottle because he thinks people don't regard him as an important person. He had a fine war record, but still, he drinks to feel like a big shot. I know a woman who drinks because she is in the top social bracket and doesn't feel quite secure there and booze gives her confidence. She is about to crack up. I know a newspaperman who has been in the bottle for years, despite the fact he is one of the best, because he thinks he has failed as a newspaperman.

Study There is a very good article about heavy social drinkers in the September Woman's Home Companion. It is by a psychiatrist, Dr. Robert U. Seliger, of Johns Hopkins. In an article discussing, unfortunately, chiefly men, he writes:

"I am not speaking now about moderate social drinkers—or of alcoholics. There are approximately 50,000,000 people in this country who drink regularly or occasionally without letting alcohol interfere with their lives. They belong to the great group who can stop drinking any time they wish to. And there are more than 750,000 confirmed alcoholics—sick people unable to stop drinking at will and who cannot handle alcohol in any form but who are handled by it. Most husbands whose drinking becomes a serious problem belong to neither of these categories.

"I would speak instead of the large middle group of more than 3,000,000 people who are best described as heavy social drinkers. The members of this group regularly drink more than is good for them. Yet they are able to carry on their work and home life without being completely dominated by alcohol. Most of them usually feel they can take alcohol or leave it alone—but they continue to drink heavily. Because of their greater numbers, it is my firm opinion that as a group they cause more domestic tragedy than the actual alcoholics.

"There are just three reasons why men (and women) become heavy social drinkers:

"1. Some are suffering from incipient alcoholism, which must be considered as a symptom of some underlying illness of the personality. They need medical and psychiatric examination and treatment.

"2. Some are victims of occupational pressures, or unaware that alcoholism may result from years of habit-drinking or from changes in the body or the strains of life such as grief and bereavement.

"3. Some—and this is the largest group—suffer from disharmonies in the personality which are usually traceable to a faulty emotional climate in the home or a lack of emotional maturity there."

It seems to me that with all the study going on we will lick the problem. I know of no one doing more for it than the Alcoholics Anonymous. They have to deal with drunks who are suffering from hangovers and think they want to quit. They have to deal with wives and husbands dragged there by their angry mates. With these there isn't much that can be done. But with the man or woman who at last has reached the intelligent comprehension of the problem, and says, "I can't take the first one," there is a lot that can be done. And then religion, love and friendship can help.

RALPH T. JONES

Will Future Cars Be Lighter Types?

My visitor had seen some magazine illustrations of those small imported English cars. She said she was rather sold on the idea. Her family car is in the heavier category, even for American cars, and, while admitting a heavy car was better on the highways, she said she felt she'd be happier with a light model for driving around town.

I mentioned a well-known American make, small, but that didn't appeal to her.

"Well," said I, "the reason why the English have developed such small, low-powered cars is because of their taxes."

She wanted to know details. So I told her how the British tax on cars is based on horsepower, running about the equivalent of $5 per annum per horsepower. Making the annual tax even on one of our lower-priced cars around $400 or $500.

The result is, obviously, the making of cars there with extremely low horsepower, yet capable of reliable transportation. And, naturally, with high mileage per gallon of gasoline. Or motor spirit, as the English call it. Sometimes petrol.

Three Wheels I recalled seeing, on a visit to England some 20 or more years ago, quite a number of three-wheeled passenger cars. Two wheels in front and one, centered, in the rear. Probably with about six-horsepower motors.

My brother, at that time, had a small car, seating four passengers when you opened the rumble seat, with a four-cylindered motor generating not more than 10-horsepower or so. Its top speed was about 40 miles per hour, but, by use of the lower gears it would climb any hill and it would take you, comfortably enough, anywhere you wanted to go. They have some steep grades on English rural highways, too. And rough paving.

The gas—or petrol—tank on that car had a capacity of two gallons only, but it got 50 miles to the gallon. There was an auxiliary tank, or can, fixed on the running board, which held another two gallons to be resorted to if needed.

Steam Trucks Heavy trucks, or, in English equivalent, lorries, were a common sight on the roads, powered by steam motors, the steam generated from coal burning engines. Each with a tall, thin smokestack from which the coal smoke poured.

Big passenger trucks, or open buses, were common on the roads, too, filled with people on sight-seeing tours. No tops, just open to the air, and if it rained it was just too bad.

Again, because of the horsepower tax, motorcycles were very popular vehicles. A man could go anywhere on a good motorbike, with a motor of not more than two-horsepower and, consequently, very low tax.

And this had called for the development of elaborate sidecars. You'd frequently see an entire family of four or five roaring along the road on a motorcycle. Dad in the driver's seat, mother in the sidecar with one or two children in little seats in front of her and another youngster, perhaps, perched behind dad.

Also, for such easy trips as a shopping visit to the grocer and meat market and so forth, the bicycle is very popular in England. You see whole drives of women, from young girls to grandmothers, pedaling to the shopping centers.

Since our conversation about these lighter cars, I've been wondering if, because of threatened scarcity of gasoline, because of mounting costs of cars and of car-operation, the day of the smaller, lighter, less costly to run, cars may not be coming in this country. But they'll have to make light cars that don't look like toys and there'll have to be a drastic change in American motoring fashions.

Roper Sells His Weather-Vane

The presidential election is going to be so one-sided, says Public opinion Surveyor Elmo Roper, he is not going to take any more polls.

Mr. Roper has a good eye for trends but a poor one for business.

Quitting taking polls just because a race is one sided is like an insurance company not writing policies because nobody is dying.

But whatever his personal short-sightedness, Mr. Roper is a man of discernment: It has been apparent to nearly everybody for some months now that Dewey is going to win . . . and not by a mustache.

Yessir, every one in the country seems to realize it except Harry Truman, and he is too close to the forest to see the noose on the tree.

In fact, Truman may never know what hit him. A landslide isn't hard to recognize . . . except from underneath.

Mayor's Complaint

Editor Constitution: For more than a year, I have noticed the newspapers of Georgia make a policy of using the word veteran or former GI in describing any crime in which a former member of the armed services is involved.

I am sure you fine gentlemen of the press have no intention of injuring the reputation of those of us who served our country honorably in time of war and who are now trying diligently to render the same loyal service, during peace, by becoming the very best citizens possible in our respective communities. However, I believe you will agree with me that the continued use of the word veteran or GI in conjunction with some individual who has committed a crime will have a tendency to prejudice the public against all we veterans.

In describing the criminals of our country, I do not recall an instance in which the press stated that Mr.———, a Methodist, Baptist or Catholic is being held for armed robbery, etc. Neither do I recall reading that Mr.———, a Rotarian, Lion or Exchangeite was arrested for embezzlement; although I am sure people of each of the above mentioned organizations do many things the conscientious members do not approve of. Therefore, it is somewhat difficult for me to understand just why our papers are so prone to place in bad repute the name veteran, when describing a crook whom we veterans making up the 98 percent disapprove of.

It is my considered opinion that you gentlemen of the press have done this with no thought of placing a stigma on the good name of veterans in general, and as a man who served in World Wars I and II, and who had a son in the South Pacific with me in World War II, may I please ask that you refrain from the use of the word veteran, GI, etc., in describing the acts of any criminal.

C. FLANNERY POPE,
Mayor, Dublin.

(Editor's note—We do carry the religious affiliation when it is pertinent to the story or a part of it. Sometimes veterans prey on veterans and it is necessary to identify them, but generally we agree with Mayor Pope.)

Forget Differences

Editor Constitution: Permit me to commend your fine editorial and your column on editorial page of The Atlanta Constitution on the primary. I desire to give my approval of same.

The people of Georgia are justified in their resentments of suggestions or criticisms coming from the North or East, due to the fact that they are forced to believe that they come from sections that have punished and enslaved them for more than 100 years. The Roosevelt Administration is the first that recognized our impoverished condition and tried to do something about it. Unequal freight rates and high tariff have so benefitted other sections as to keep us poor, uneducated and resentful, making fertile fields to sow seeds of discord and discontent. The fixing of a parity price on farm products has gone a long ways toward adjusting these inequalities, and when this farm program is broken down or abandoned our reinslavement will become inevitable.

I want to speak approvingly of what you say about Roy Harris. In all my legislative experiences and contacts, Roy Harris has played his cards straight with me. We did not always agree, but I always knew where he stood and could depend on his spoken or written word. I regret that there are others I cannot say this about.

Without opposition, I have been nominated to represent the 42d Senatorial District. Fourteen years ago I ran for Governor against Eugene Talmadge. I have regretful memories of that campaign, one of which was a lack of finances, but in the passing of time, wounds and resentments heal.

I agree with you that Georgia is not going to be destroyed. It is the duty of every good Georgian to forget differences and work with Herman Talmadge to make him and Georgia a good Governor and a successful administration. To such a course, before the primary, I pledged my word and honor and I repledge them now. He is not to become the Governor of one faction in Georgia. He is to become the Governor of Georgia and Georgians. CLAUDE C. PITMAN.

Negro Protest

Editor Constitution: In the spirit of Frederick Douglas, UNAVA state we are Americans and as such we speak to America. We protest strongly the exclusion of Negroes from the draft boards in Georgia.

This our common country would not be what it is today but for the sacrifices and contributions made by all races and classes. The Negro, the Jewish people, the white race and the foreign-born, all have played an indispensable part in making the U. S. A. rich, powerful and fit to lead.

But Brig. Gen. Alpha Fowler, the Adjutant General of Georgia, informs us there will be no Negroes on the draft boards in this State. UNAVA, true to their tradition and having high regard for the opinions of others, ask what is the cause of this un-American, un-Christian and anti-democratic action towards the patriotic Negro people? We are of the opinion that the sooner the State of Georgia adopts the sensible policy of "inclusion" instead of "exclusion" towards its Negro citizens the stronger the State will be.

Therefore, the United Negro and Allied Veterans of America join the other progressive forces within the State in urging all authorities, from the President down, to take immediate action to place Negroes on the regular draft boards in Georgia.

Defense of 48

Editor Constitution: We would both like to say in behalf of Hospital 48, that as many times as we have been in 48, we have never found any complaint as regards food served, and the manner in which it was served to us, as well as other attentions supposed to have been given us. We have always found the employees of this administration to be of the highest type and very considerate in every respect. As to the cold coffee, etc., we never experienced this at any time.

Warm Springs Memorial

Editor Constitution: All evidence indicates inefficiency on the part of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Warm Springs Memorial Committee. Tourists going back and forth through our State have been promised an early opening of the Little White House for over a year. The two signs at the entrance of the Warm Springs Foundation have been painted over, altered and changed until they are about to fall.

There can be no reasonable excuse for this delay. Jekyll Island was rebuilt in less than 90 days, roads can be paved, State buildings erected or remodeled, in fact anything that we want done is done. I do not know the members of this Committee but it is my sincere hope that they will not let the people of the world forget where this great man spent his last hours before they are ready to do something. As a Georgian who has carried quite a few out-of-State visitors to Warm Springs, I am always embarrassed.

High-Handed Tactics in Dixie

WASHINGTON—The strange and blatantly undemocratic procedure developed in the South whereby political bosses or political committees in some States have arrogated to themselves in advance the authority to dictate how the electoral vote is to be cast for President, with no consideration for public preference or the popular vote in November, reveals two things:

1. The need to abolish the antiquated electoral college system and to substitute for it the direct election of President and Vice President that has been advocated for so long because of the possibility that the existing system would be corrupted as is happening now.

2. The lengths to which big economic interests in the South that are sponsoring and financing the fourth, States' Rights Party, notably private utilities, oil, textiles and affiliated financial interests, will go to defeat President Truman because of his espousal of the New Deal social and economic program of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

This sort of star chamber electoral trend in the South is most recently dramatized by the action of the State Democratic Committee in Louisiana in arbitrarily striking the names of President Truman and Sen. Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, his running-mate, from the ballot and inserting those of Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, of South Carolina, and Gov. Fielding Wright, of Mississippi, the candidates, respectively of the fourth party.

Without any mandate from the rank and file, the Committee thus took over for the Thurmond-Wright party the regular Democratic Party. Significant was the remark of one member of the Committee who said that the electors would not vote for President Truman anyhow, which shows how our present system can be abused. That means that even if a majority of the people of Louisiana wanted President Truman, they could not express their preference. A handful of men, instead, would decide for them.

The electors, of course, would be within their legal rights, though for over a century the electoral college has been a dead letter in fact. The electors, with a few rare exceptions, have automatically cast their votes at the perfunctory meeting here every four years in December for the candidate who got a majority in the State.

This year all electors in Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina as well as four out of eight in Florida and three out of 10 in Tennessee are pledged in advance not to vote for President Truman so that the people in a wide area have been deprived of the right to vote for him. Now Louisiana joins this procession with a slightly different method of achieving the same undemocratic result.

Committees of conventions in other States are acting in the next few days, so that the technique may be extended even more widely. Meanwhile some activity is going on in some States where the Truman-Barkley ticket has been barred to get electors for them on the ballot so that those who choose may vote for the regular nominees of their Party. Both the Democratic and Fourth Party tickets should be on the ballot to permit a choice. As well stated by William J. Primm, Jr., assistant to Democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath:

"The Dixiecrats have every right to form a new party, but the tactics they are employing in taking over the Democratic Party machinery in some States and thereby depriving the people of those States of a free ballot is deplorable. Such methods are flagrantly dishonest and fraudulent."

The whole Southern episode is equally illuminating as to how special interests can corrupt the Electoral College system through their powerful influence in State political machines. It is no secret that such interests have directed the present "revolt" in the South, exploiting for their own selfish purposes the antagonism to the civil rights program. It began months ago in Mississippi and Alabama, came to a climax in the Birmingham meeting where the fourth party was created and the necessary political machinery set up, and is being carried forward by nullifying the basic right of free suffrage and decreeing a "ja" vote—or whatever is the Russian equivalent—for its political instruments. Such interests still are afraid of the people, as were the Nazis and as are the Communists.

THE QUESTION: Will Georgia or Georgia Tech rank higher in SEC football this season?

THE ANSWERS:

D. T. ALLEN, 147 Wyman St., S. E., transportation engineer—This coming season? I think Georgia Tech will . . . I favor Georgia Tech. I think they have the best team. I think they have the best leftovers. I don't know too much about their new men. I think Georgia is favored in the new men, I do believe. I expect to see Tech play. I know I'll see several Tech games.

STANLEY WADDELL, 51 Clay St., S. E., electrician—Well, I don't know, I don't keep up with it much, but I really prefer Georgia for my favorite team. I just like Georgia. I've lived in Georgia all my life. I tell you, I don't even know the names of the players yet. I listen to the games on the radio, that's about all. I have a brother who's a great baseball fan. If he didn't get to see all the games, he'd be miserable.

CHARLES PUCKETT, 417 South Cheney St., East Point, Ga. watchmaker — I believe Georgia Tech will rank higher, myself. I don't know too much about it. They have a much better team than Georgia has, in my opinion. Most of Georgia's team have left. Tech has a good passer and they have good receiving ends on both sides of the line. I believe they'll have a good punting system, too. Dinky Bowen is a good digger. When he starts running, he's hard to stop.

JACK COLLINS, 881 Jefferson St., N. W., supply clerk—I think Georgia will. That's just my opinion. I just think Georgia has a better team. One reason, I have a friend who has played on the Georgia team. He plays left guard, I think it is. In 1946, they won ten games and lost none. I haven't kept up with them such since then, but I expect them to win all the way through this year.

Republicans Lead in California

PRINCETON, N. J.—The Dewey-Warren presidential ticket leads off in California with a decided vote advantage.

The home State of Gov. Earl Warren was during the Roosevelt era one of the staunchest Democratic States outside the South in presidential elections, but today the GOP enjoys a lead almost as great as the Democrats used to have.

However, the Truman forces have been gaining strength in recent weeks and the trend of sentiment has been toward the Truman-Barkley ticket.

The results are shown below, with the undecided vote included in the first column and excluded in the second:

CALIFORNIA
(25 Electoral Votes)

Dewey	49%	54%
Truman	35	38
Wallace	7	8
Undecided	9

NEW YORK

Dewey	47%
Truman	37
Wallace	16

PENNSYLVANIA

Dewey	57%
Truman	40
Wallace	3

MISSOURI

Truman	59%
Dewey	41

SOUTH CAROLINA

Thurmond	59%
Truman	29
Dewey	11
Wallace	1

Today's report is the fifth in a series giving the standings of the presidential candidates in the individual States. Of the States reported so far, Governor Dewey leads in three, President Truman in one and Governor J. Strom Thurmond, candidate of the Southern States' Rights Party, in one. The score is shown below in terms of percent of voters expressing a definite choice of candidate.

FRED OTHMAN

Mr. Coopersmith Has His Troubles

WASHINGTON—The man to pity today is Maurice Coopersmith, the New York furrier beset by gorillas, who murder his customers, trample on his seamstresses, and force him to do business in the dead of night, like a bootlegger.

Life is so rough at the chez Coopersmith that even his own brother, Jacob, is afraid to work for him. For Maurice each day brings heartaches and headaches, intermingled. The wonder is that he ever finishes a mink coat for madame. He wonders himself, sometimes.

He dropped down to Washington, a large and portly man with 5 o'clock shadow gleaming blue at 11 a. m., to tell a bulge-eyed congressional committee about his troubles with the Fur Workers' Union. His use of the English language was so free-wheeling that he had to dictate a glossary for the lawgivers. The gorillas who ripped the coats and jumped on the ladies who sewed them, he said, weren't actually apes. They were officials of the union, who looked like human beings.

"And by murder," asked Rep. Max Schwabe, of Missouri, "you mean in an economic way?"

"That's right," replied Maurice, "they murder 'em."

His business, he explained, is fur lining. The coat factory cuts the furs. Then his errand boy (who used to be brother Jacob) trundles them down Seventh Avenue to Maurice's shop, where he sews in the satin linings. This form of subcontracting is frowned upon by the union, which fines any factory that resorts to it.

Coopersmith charged that the fines were what counted with the union. He said it collected more than $100,000 a year from manufacturers who chose to do business with him and his fellow liners. And where did this money go? Eloquently he shrugged his shoulders.

"Who knows?" he asked. "To Russia, maybe. They're all Communists."

And how, wondered Rep. Schwabe, did the union know which coat makers to fine? Easy, said Maurice.

"They just grab the order book from my boy when he delivers the coats," he added.

Not physically, of course, suggested Rep. Wingate Lucas, of Texas.

"Physically?" cried Coopersmith. "If we don't give it to 'em, they break his neck."

This has happened to him so often that his turnover in delivery boys is scandalous. "They don't ask questions," he said. "The first thing you know you're stretched out on the street. But they get the book and collect the fines. Once they walked into my place and cut up $400 worth of linings.

"A lady who'd worked for me 14 years dived under a pile of coats to get away from 'em. They jumped up and down on her."

Coopersmith bounced in his chair. He told how his brother had to quit him on threats of getting his head broken. Rep. Schwabe wondered how often the coat makers had to pay union fines

"Who knows?" said Maurice, repeating himself for the first time. "As often as they get caught. Now I got to bootleg the coats out at night and get 'em back the same way. If I'm caught, I'm out of business."

Yes, but couldn't he argue with the union? Maurice snorted.

"The more you talk, the more you pay," he said. "So you pay and keep your mouth shut. They come in like Cossacks and tell everybody to get out, union and nonunion, and when they get through with 'em, they're scared to work for me. They don't solicit members. They just grab 'em by the neck and they're in."

"It is hard to conceive," murmured the gentleman from Missouri.

"True," said the furrier from New York. "I swear."

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Political Extortion Nothing New

NEW YORK—Mournful witnesses testified before committees of the House of Representatives last week regarding the power of the Fur and Leather Workers' Union of the CIO to extort from non-Communist workers and from employers, as well, contributions to Communist campaign funds and subscriptions to Communist publications.

This is nothing new but the admission that it is true comes as an important concession from employers in the fur and leather industry. These gentlemen, as a group, were enthusiastic supporters of Franklin D. Roosevelt and no element of our people resented more angrily all evidence that he had created conditions which might force American citizens to finance and otherwise support forces which are hostile to the United States. During part of his reign, the hostility of the Russian Government to this country was not as frank as it has been since VE Day, but there was no excuse for any intelligent man to say that the enmity had been abandoned or even watered down. Anyone who could read could see that there was an irreconcilable cause of war between our country and Soviet Russia. All that anyone could possibly offer as an excuse for dreaming that the Kremlin had become nice was a fatuous faith in Roosevelt. Of course, people have a right to be fools over insincere heroes, but some of these idolators went beyond reasonable length. They tried to browbeat wiser citizens who saw through Roosevelt and proved, by analysis, that his Wagner Act, the awful fraud called by the leering name of labor's magna charta, did contain a license for Communists to finance and organize treason and for racketeers to plague labor and commerce—and that this was being done flagrantly.

To be sure, during most of his reign, Roosevelt callously exploited the emotions of sincere citizens whose relatives in Germany were suffering ghastly persecution and many of them were engaged in the fur and leather industries. Their judgment was out of focus. To find fault with Roosevelt was to hamper a savior, who could do no willful wrong. And thus honest persons who had coldly analyzed his miscalled labor policy had to endure, with courage and patience, a false, and, in some cases, financially ruinous propaganda. The Communists, in their many guises, in New York and Washington, joined in this hateful silent boycott and smear. Some cheap and obvious opportunists also hopped in to injure business rivals by accusing them of bigotry. John T. Flynn and other good Americans who were smeared and suffered damage as anti-Semites deserve apologies today.

Long ago, using the Newspaper Guild and its constitution as examples, I demonstrated that the Wagner Act knowingly conferred on a small minority of a given "bargaining unit" the power to finance Communistic projects and punish unbearably all loyal citizens who resisted. The Guild at that time even had a trap in its constitution which made it impossible for a member to resign except to quit the profession of journalism.

Most of the now familiar parliamentary tricks of the bolos were practiced on us new hands in those early Guild meetings. Our high executive officer, a stranger to the real newspapermen and women, was a cloak-and-suit journalist who later bobbed up a press-agent for Nathan Witt, the early secretary of the National Labor Relations Board. Mr. Witt was unmasked and eliminated long ago, against the resistance of Mr. Roosevelt. And, only recently, this time against the resistance of President Truman, he was scooped up among other squirming, slippery life by the dredges of the Thomas Committee.

Incidentally, Eleanor the Great was a member of the Guild at the time I speak of. You might have expected her, as a loyal citizen, to lend a hand to those of us who were making the fight. We learned otherwise in time.

I have proved in a hundred cases that the law openly flouted its own stated purpose of facilitating interstate commerce by abating labor disputes. It created and aggravated thousands of labor disputes, and the Labor Relations Board, under Communist power, felt out tender places and supplied provocation itself. John L. Lewis will tell you that. He sneers at Roosevelt because he had that awful faker's number all the time. Lewis used Roosevelt just as Stalin used him later at Teheran and Yalta.

The fact that Americans are forced to support Communist papers and candidates is nothing new. They are forced to support Democratic candidates, too, and some day they might be forced to support Republican candidates. The candidate's political complexion is immaterial except that when he is the candidate of the Communists, such as Henry Wallace and Vito Marcantonio, the irony is a little more poignant. The wickedness of this law lies in the fact that it was intended to strike down the political volition of the citizen.

Roosevelt's idolators would never admit that or even admit that it was important. Now, because Communism is the issue and very dangerous, they are beginning to wail that this is all wrong and blame, not Roosevelt, who planned it that way, but the Communists who merely took advantage of Roosevelt's law.

ROBERT QUILLEN

Is Silence A Virtue?

When people speak of freedom, they usually mean freedom from tyranny and oppression—the kind of freedom that is the essence of democracy.

To people who have become accustomed to it, life is almost unendurable without it. They will risk all they have, even life itself, to keep it or regain it.

But there is another kind of freedom, more intimate and personal, which every self-respecting person of independent spirit must have to preserve his mental and physical health.

It is freedom from self-imposed bondage. It is freedom from the kind of tyranny that some people endure, not because they must, but because they choose to endure it.

IN THEIR effect upon the mind and the nervous system, there is a world of difference between a bondage imposed by superior force and a bondage which a man imposes upon himself.

For example, a war prisoner, knowing he is helpless, may reconcile himself to all injustices and indignities, and a kind of work he hates, and be in no danger of a nervous breakdown. His proud spirit is unbroken; his self-respect is not diminished; for all he endures and does is forced upon him by superior power, and he submits to it as he would submit to the power of a hurricane. His ego is not affected. He is not responsible if he can't help himself. His feet may be chained, but his soul still feels free.

The situation and the effect on him are entirely different if he could escape, but won't.

If he endures a situation he hates, or silently bears nagging and bossing, or keeps a job he loathes, or submits to humiliations in private or public; and if he does these things, not because he must, but because he is constrained by love or a sense of duty or religion or good manners, then the mental strain and the strain on his nerves will steadily increase until he cracks.

The danger is not in being forced to endure what you resent and abominate, but in forcing yourself to endure it.

For example, when a boy and girl married and rented a small apartment, and the boy's mother moved in with them and took complete charge of everything, the girl endured it in silence for the sake of love and good manners. In less than two years she was in a sanitarium.

Moral: It isn't smart to endure the impositions of a spoiled husband or wife or an inlaw or a spoiled son or daughter.

Things Are Stirring Down on the Plains

AUBURN, Ala.—After seven scant months in his job of leading Auburn out of the football wilderness, Mr. Earl Brown has made definite and noticeable progress. But the road is still long and rocky, and nobody knows it better than Mr. Brown.

Talking with the personable young coach, one gets the idea that the Tigers will be able to field one pretty fair football club this Fall, but it starts and ends with the first 15 or so men. Consequently, don't look for too many Auburn victories. People of our neighborhood just don't go around beating fellow Southeastern Conference clubs without reserve strength and plenty of it.

There's a new spirit at Auburn. Maybe not a new one, but a revival of the old War Eagle battle cry of the days of Chet Wynne and Jack Meagher.

"I'll say this," said Mr. Brown, "I've never seen a bunch of boys with better spirit. They believe they are going to win and so do I. We'll slip up on somebody, but who or when is anybody's guess. Every position on the team is still open and the boys have battled one another through every workout for the starting jobs."

Such an atmosphere prevails upon the practice field up on the hill. The quietness of the student-depleted Plains surrounding the Loveliest Village is split with enthusiastic yells of 70 toiling athletes from 3 to 6 o'clock each afternoon.

Once a Day Brown is working his squad only once a day. "I am not an advocate of these two-a-day drills," he said. "Of course, other coaches do it and have their reasons. However, I remember my playing days of only eight years ago and how I disliked those second workouts. Consequently, I believe more can be accomplished with only one drill a day.

But don't get the idea anybody is loafing at Auburn. Coaches are given mimeographed practice schedules each day, allotting certain amounts of time to each detail of the game. These are followed to the minute and something is going on all the time.

For the boys there is a classroom session each morning for an hour and a half and another skull practice for quarterbacks after lunch.

Everybody is earning his pay, all right.

One of Brown's toughest tasks when he reported for his new job was that of scraping up some kind of freshman team. He has succeeded in this admirably with some 60 likely looking prospects in the green jersies of the yearlings.

"About 60 percent of them are from the North," smiled Earl. "We found the bushes pretty well trampled around these parts and I agree with Wally Butts that we should be more democratic and help cement relations between the North and South.

Nothing Definite Earl has a fair idea about the way his varsity will line up for its first game, although he emphasizes that nothing is definite and the first club is subject to change without notice.

The backfield, regardless of who plays, is going to be one of the lightest in the Conference. Capt. Russ Inman is the giant at 190, but he is backed up in his fullback post by such mites as Freddie Gafford at 158 and Brownie Fournoy at 155.

Dick Fournoy, also in the 150s, is leading the right halfback race now, but is being pushed by Johnny Wallis and Zach Jenkins.

Jim McDaniel and Charlie Langler, a senior and soph, respectively, are waging a merry battle for the quarterback job and neither has an edge right now.

The all-important tailback position is equally unsettled. Jocko Norton, a 155-pound junior; Ray Pelfrey, the lad who attended Tech a few days; Billy Ball, the speedy but light veteran, and Travis Tidwell, the passing wizard who is trying to come back from a second operation on a broken leg, are in the thick of the battle.

Four Veterans Up front, Brown is pretty well fixed at ends with four veterans, Bill Waddail, Fred Duart, Erskine Russell and Ralph Pyburn ready and able.

The tackles apparently will be Alternate Capt John Adcock and Max Autrey at 225 and 200, respectively. They are being backed by a pair of sophs, Jack Lamber and Jim Burns, and the Goliath of the squad, 260-pound Denvard Snell, a senior from Dothan who likes it rough and moves with considerable quicknes for one so large.

Bob Cannon and Royce McMahen, a couple of standard-sized seniors, are running at No. 1 guards now and are being pushed by Phil Pounderstone and Dan Mantrone.

Hal Herring and Coer Barton, both veterans, are the centers and should be good enough.

Bill Klem Is 'Feeling Fine' After Hospital Checkup

NEW YORK — (AP) — William J. Klem, Chief of Staff of the National League umpires, said last night he was feeling "fine" after entering a hospital for a physical checkup.

Klem said his doctor advised him to spend a week in the hospital. He entered Saturday.

825 POUNDS OF O'KEEFE TACKLES—Coach Hank Langston is no cattle farmer, but he smiles every time he sees all this beef on the hoof on his field. As long as this quartet is around not too many teams plan to blitz O'Keefe High's line. Here's proof they'll be two deep in 200-pounds-plus tackles when the Greenies open their season against Grady High in the Henry Grady Stadium dedication game tomorrow night. Left to right are Trafton Fleetwood (212 pounds), Frank Spear, Jr. (201), Marion (Potential) Skinner (212) and Bill Baker (200).

Mr. Moon Discovers Smith Is Top Team

By JESSE OUTLAR

Cecil Moon, the not unhandsome Smith High coach, is indebted to the press much more than somewhat for uncovering two items about his football team that had gone unnoticed.

First, the large Mr. Moon learned something from his morning newspaper that had never dawned on him during the weeks of head knocking on the Smith practice field.

In fact, he had no idea that he was the lucky instructor and character builder of the best eleven in the City League.

Rival coaches had whispered the rumor around, but somehow Moon, his assistants Hub Dowis and Shirley Watkins, had overlooked the fact, that is, until they read it in bold print.

Of course, Mr. Moon was elated to discover that his Smithies are the number one team in town, but he fears there has been a terrible mistake. When last seen, he was asking if Brown, Murphy and Roosevelt had withdrawn from the City circuit, as he was positive that they all have better chances of not losing more than four games than his Smithies have.

Another Shock

Not fully recovered from being awarded the City title before playing a game, Mr. Moon was subjected to another great shock.

Relaxing from his worries over lack of halfbacks and tackles, Mr. Moon decided to do some more reading. As Smith opens the season Friday night in Columbus with Dick Butler's Columbus eleven, he was glancing over a paper from that city.

And there it was on the sports page. "Smith is four deep in every position and if we don't beat Columbus, it's my fault," says Coach Moon."

Never noted for being optimistic, Moon declares that he said no such thing, and furthermore, he steamed, "I'm not sure that my team is one deep in some spots."

He figures the reporter got him mixed up with Coach Butler, who, according to Moon, has been telling everyone that he has the strongest line he has ever coached at Columbus.

Watch the Smithies

Seriously, Cecil admits that he has a fine football team at Smith. He says all the boys have been working hard and are ready to go. The entire squad came through rough pre-season practice without injury, except Halfback David Bohannon, who is suffering from a bad ankle.

Moon won't endorse Smith's No. 1 rating. And certainly the Smithies aren't four deep at every position.

But with people like Fullback Conrad Moon around, you only need to be one deep. Barring injuries to key men, the Smithies should finish one notch above their second place position of last year.

BATTLES FOR LIFE—Cleveland Pitcher Don Black, injured in Monday's game with the St. Louis Browns, lies unconscious in a Cleveland hospital as Mrs. Black attends him. Doctors give Black a 50-50 chance of recovering from his sub-arachoid hemorrhage.

Don Black Has 50-50 Chance for Recovery

CLEVELAND—(UP)—Don Black, Cleveland pitcher battling for his life, slipped in and out of unconsciousness yesterday and was given an even chance to recover from a brain hemorrhage.

Dr. Spencer Braden, a brain specialist, said that Black's chances are "only fair" as of now. He added, however, that the 31-year-old hurler was "coming out of coma" and "has shown considerable improvement" since he was stricken Monday.

"Black suffered a cerebral hemorrhage while swinging hard at a pitch in Monday's game against St. Louis a sub-arachnoid hemorrhage developed, bathing his brain and spinal cord in blood.

Team physician Dr. Edward Castle, Jr., said Black "will recover if he does not bleed any more," but added that "there is very little change in his condition and he is still critical."

Dr. Braden said that he could not operate since the bleeding had not "clotted" in any one spot.

Black, the "alcoholics anonymous" pitcher who came up from the depths of drink to hurl a no-hit game last year, regained consciousness briefly and recognized his wife, Joyce, who had spent most of the night at his bedside.

He also asked for some lemonade, his first nourishment since being stricken, but soon lapsed back into a deep sleep.

Mrs. Black, who had ridden in an ambulance with her husband to the hospital, said he was delirious and kept muttering: "I've got to win this one. We've got to win the pennant."

Black's injury came on after he had taken a hard cut at Bill Kennedy's second pitch and fouled it to the right. He whirled around, stepped out of the batter's box and walked in a small circle behind Umpire Bill Summers.

With both hands pressed against his head, Black murmured, "My God, Bill, what happened?"

Summers asked what was wrong and Black said "it started . . . on that last pitch to Pellagrini."

His last pitch had been a snapping curve to Ed Pellagrini which Summers called a third strike to end the inning.

"I put my hand on the back of his neck," Summers said, "and he was trembling like a leaf. He was sick at his stomach."

Mrs. McDonald Wins Play Day Feature

Mrs. Grady McDonald posted a gross 82 to win top honors in the Atlanta Women's Golf Association play day program yesterday at Capital City.

Beverly Turner won low net prize in the first division with 76.

In the second division, Lorraine Vicknair, 91, had low gross and Mrs. L. H. Kelley, 78, low net.

Mrs. L. B. Yarbrough took low gross honors in the third division with 100. Mrs. J. V. Pierotti and Mrs. Jim Flowers tied for low net with 78s.

Next week's program will be held at Druid Hills.

Six-Man Teams Open With Twin Bill Friday

By JESSE OUTLAR

You don't hear much about six-man football in Georgia. That is, unless you happen to be around DaKalb County, where the only six-man conference in the State operates.

As far as the eight members of the DeKalb County Conference are concerned, the six-man game's the thing. They are launching their eighth season at Tucker Friday night with a choice gridiron twin bill on tap. Lithonia, defending champion, takes on Tucker in the first attraction at 7:15, and Avondale battles Clarkston at 8:30.

Druid Hills and Chamblee clash Saturday night at 7:30, while Stone Mountain, resuming the sport after a lay-off, makes its debut against Avondale on Sept. 24. Southwest DeKalb plays its first game Oct. 1.

All eight schools have an eight-game schedule, with double-headers at Tucker every Friday night and a single game on Saturday night. Each team meets the other conference members once during the season, and plays Conyers, a non-league team.

B. B. Williams, President of the DeKalb Athletic Association, reports that a wide-open race looms this year, with both fan interest and attendance expected to hit an all-time high.

The six-man game presents a high toned offensive attack, with emphasis placed on broken field running. Two ends and a center make up the line, with an equal number of backs.

Schedule: (All games played on Tucker Field):

Sept. 17—Tucker vs. Lithonia, Avondale vs. Clarkston.
Sept. 18—Druid Hills vs. Chamblee.
Sept. 24—Stone Mountain vs. Avondale, Lithonia vs. Druid Hills.
Sept. 25—Clarkston vs. Chamblee.
Oct. 1—Clarkston vs. Stone Mountain, Tucker vs. Southwest DeKalb.
Oct. 2—Lithonia vs. Chamblee.
Oct. 8—Stone Mountain vs. Chamblee, Tucker vs. Druid Hills.
Oct. 9—Clarkston vs. Southwest DeKalb, Lithonia vs. Avondale.
Oct. 15—Stone Mountain vs. Southwest DeKalb, Druid Hills vs. Clarkston.
Oct. 16—Chamblee vs. Tucker.
Oct. 22—Avondale vs. Southwest DeKalb, Clarkston vs. Lithonia.
Oct. 23—Tucker vs. Stone Mountain.
Oct. 29—Southwest DeKalb vs. Chamblee, Tucker vs. Clarkston.
Oct. 30—Druid Hills vs. Avondale.
Nov. 5—Stone Mountain vs. Lithonia, Avondale vs. Chamblee.
Nov. 6—Druid Hills vs. Southwest DeKalb.
Nov. 12—Stone Mountain vs. Druid Hills, Tucker vs. Avondale.
Nov. 13—Southwest DeKalb vs. Lithonia.

(All teams play Conyers one game with date to be announced.)

Geri, Most Versatile Georgia Back, May Get Starter's Berth

By BOB CHRISTIAN

ATHENS—When the talk gets around to versatile backs of the Georgia Bulldogs, the name of Joe Geri, senior halfback, who has played three backfield positions in a Red and Black uniform, always gets a goodly portion of the conversation.

Not only does the Phoenixville, Pa., gridder handle his share of the duties of a pass receiver and runner but he also takes care of points after touchdowns and is one of the outstanding punters in the Conference.

Since coming to Georgia, Geri has done just about everything to be expected of a backfield man. He doesn't have any excess mercury in his heels but Georgia coaches have learned in three previous seasons that he is one of the squad's most determined runners. He was the top extra-point man with 26 out of 31 conversions last year.

He first joined the Bulldogs in 1942 and made the trip to the Rose Bowl as a freshman fullback. After a stretch in the Marines where he mingled football at Cherry Point and and Camp Lejeune with overseas duty he returned to Athens in 1946. That year he still was a fullback, understudying veteran Dick McPhee.

Last year, he was moved to right halfback and though he saw only spotty action, except as a kicker, he averaged more than 5.5 yards per run on 53 plays. His running in the 'Gator Bowl game was largely responsible for the 20-20 tie Georgia gained with the University of Maryland. He picked up 56 yards on seven running plays during the Bulldog comeback that fell short on the two-yard line when the game ended.

This Fall he is running from the left halfback slot, and yesterday afternoon he showed fellow left-halfs that he is in the midst of the battle for a starting post. As a punter, Geri differs from the average kicker in that he can place the ball where he wants it.

Coach Wallace Butts put his gridders through the first of three scheduled scrimmages this week yesterday.

Ansley Park Meet Now in Semi-Finals

The third round of the annual Ansley Park golf tournament has been completed, with R. French, R. Tutwiler, Billy Gailmard and F. Johnson advancing to the semi-finals of the championship flight.

French defeated Sonny Holmes, 2 and 1; Tutwiler downed T. M. Smith, Jr., 3 and 2; Gailmard defeated R. Elder, 1-up at 19, and Johnson beat D. M. Carroll, 2 and 1.

CONSOLATION FLIGHT:
Campbell defeated Bankston, 4 and 2; Copelan defeated Fleming, 1-up; Miller won by default from Wilson; Gibson defeated Blumenthal, 4 and 3.

FIRST FLIGHT:
Boyte defeated Haynes, 2 and 1; Massengale defeated Dorn, 1-up; McKay won by default from Morris; Woodall defeated Marshall, 3 and 2.

SECOND FLIGHT:
Johnston won from Massengale, 3 and 2; Moore defeated Etheridge, 1-up; Healy won by default from Addison; Carter drew a bye.

Feds' Annick Stops Belle Isle Nine, 7-2

Annick's six-hit pitching and "Fishpeddler" Rivera's 12th home run of the season enabled the Federal Prison baseball team to beat Atlanta Belle Isle, 7-2, in a game played at Bennett Field.

A home run by Dempsey, with Rogers on base, in the eighth inning, spoiled Annick's bid for a shutout, but Dennis Carter, the losing hurler, deserved a better fate as six errors by his teammates ruined his eight-hitter.

Dot Kirby Wins Match In National Amateur

PEBBLE BEACH, Cal.—(AP)—Medalist Bettye Mims White, of Dallas, and Dorothy Kirby, of Atlanta, chalked up victories yesterday in first-round matches of the forty-eighth Women's National Amateur Golf Championship.

Mrs. White, who led the qualifiers with a 77 and was the only player to break 80 for the difficult par 38-38—76 Pebble Beach course, edged out the Alabama title-holder, Bee Mac Wane of Birmingham, 1 up.

Miss Kirby, runner-up last year, moved up with a 4 and 3 win over Mrs. Harry Winters of Inglewood, California.

Miss Kirby held a 1-up margin on Mrs. Winters at the ninth, each shooting 43. The Atlanta Miss bagged the match by winning four holes in a row from the eleventh through the fourteenth.

Dorothy Traung, of San Francisco, contributed a mild upset with a 1-up win over Carol Diringer of Tiffin, Ohio.

Some of the opening round matches developed into routs. Mrs. Ruth McCullah, of Pacific Palisades, defeated Mrs. Willard Shephard, of Los Angeles, 9 and 8. Beverly Hanson, of Fargo, N. D., rolled up a 7 and 6 victory over Betty Blumberg, of San Gabriel, Cal. Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, of Chapel Hill, N. C., walloped Elizabeth Elliott, of Oakland, Cal., 6 and 5.

Arkansas State Champion Betty Mackinnon went into the second round with a 4 and 2 win over Verna Lee Bongart, of Danville, Illinois.

MOULTRIE—A one-day tournament for the professional golfers in Georgia, North Florida and South Alabama will be held over the tricky Sunset Country Club course on Oct. 5, it was announced yesterday by Charley Everett, Tourney Chairman.

All entry fees, which the club will match will be divided into prizes for the players.

The tourney will be a 36-hole affair.

Full details may be secured from Mr. Everett or from Marvin McLain, the Sunset Club's pro.

Tech Defenses Hold in Scrimmage But Scoring Punch Is Missing

By GEORGE TISINGER

The freshmen and B-teamers worked the football-playing varsity Yellow Jackets over yesterday afternoon on Tech's Rose Bowl Field and Coach Bobby Dodd and staff were not very happy over what they saw. In a nutshell, the varsity was pretty good on defense but couldn't score for sour apples.

There were a few rays of sunshine, however, as certain individuals turned in neat jobs. One of these was Tackle Clay Matthews, who evidently has decided he's tired of getting pushed around and is going to do the pushing himself from now on.

Big Clay smashed everything in sight that even looked like it wanted to wear a red or green jersey. In fact the way he is playing ball right now is making Line Coach Ray Graves' sleep a lot easier these nights, for it is Graves' job to develop some first line tackles that can stand the gaff. And, brother, Clay Matthews is well developed. Add him to Tom Coleman, throw in Dan Bradach, Jack Glenn, Dale Lupton and some others and Tech could have a workable group.

Another lineman who always gives a good account for himself and who didn't disappoint yesterday was Center Lewis Hook. Hook only weighs 170-odd pounds but he's one of the best linebackers in the conference, according to coaches and other people who ought to know.

One of Hook's main points is his ability to diagnose where the lightning is going to strike and he doesn't worry a bit about placing himself in front of it.

Center Bob Bossons also turned in a workmanlike performance during the tussle yesterday. He made some fine tackles and intercepted one freshman bullet pass just over the line.

When the freshmen got tired, the B team went after the varsity. Dodd laid the ball down on the 10-yard line and told the opposition to score but they couldn't. Bill Healy stood there like a rock wall when they tried to move him, and so did Guard Hays McKinney.

It was their performances and some others which prompted Dodd t say jokingly, "Guess the Vanderbilt-Tech score with the 0 to 0. Looks like we just can't score against anybody and maybe we can hold them off, too."

Quarterback Jim Southard is still out of uniform and is trying to keep his legs in shape with some light running while his bruised ribs are mending. He is still strapped up after absorbing a terrific wallop last week in a scrimmage.

They didn't work on kicking much yesterday but the guy who probably will do most of it in this Fall's games, Buster Humphreys, was running about like he was having a good time. Buster is in fine shape this year and is expected to play from his fullback spot at about 180 pounds, slightly under what h weighed last year.

He still wears a binding on his left arm which was broken during Spring drills. However, the old injury hasn't seemed to worry him so far this year.

Pa. Nine Beats Clarkdale, 3 to 2

Special to The Constitution

YOUNGSTOWN—The New Castle, Pa., Universals, one of the "dark horses" of the National Amateur Baseball Federation Tournament, checked Atlanta's win streak yesterday, beating Clarkdale, 3-2, in a sensational battle.

Clarkdale had the game wrapped up, 2-1, going into the seventh inning. Then Pitcher Tony Baker was nicked for a three-bagger by Steve Hutnick. He held third base as Pitcher Wayne Shelar rolled to first. Charles Fazzone, who homered Saturday, then blasted Baker's pitch to center field for a circuit wallop, Hutnick registering ahead for New Castle's 3-2 edge.

New Castle threatened more in the same frame as John Gibson singled. Pete Razzano flied out, with "Doc" Wallace making a sensational catch. Al Rainey was safe on a fielder's choice, going to second as Jake Rakestraw let Ed Thackston's throw get by him. Archie Davies walked to load the bases, but Baker fanned Frank Parrott.

Atlanta scored in the opening inning. Jake Rakestraw started it with a slashing double to right field. Joe Moon flied out, but Tom Wallace slashed a single to center to send Rakestraw home. Jim McWilliams hit into a double play.

Fazzone's infield hit tallied Frank Parrott with New Castle's run in the second.

Clarkdale took a temporary lead off Southpaw Shelar in the sixth as Tom Wallace, leading off, smashed a home run. Then New Castle tallied.

T. Wallace got three hits for Clarkdale.

Chandler Launches 'Deal' Probe

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Player deals between the Detroit Tigers and Dallas of the Texas League wer ediscussed yesterday by Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler with representatives of both organizations, it was learned authoritatively.

The Commissioner declined to comment following a conference lasting several hours, buf it was said ten players were mentioned during the confab. The men who were called into Chandler's office also would not comment.

Persons in close touch with the investigation Chandler reportedly has been making of deals involving Detroit and Dallas said yesterday that the players whose names were mentioned at yesterday's meeting included:

Jimmy Moran, second baseman now with Williamsport, Pa.; Don Meyers, centerfielder, with Little Rock in the Southern Association; Bill Serena, infielder assigned to Buffalo in the International League; Paul Hinricks, pitcher, also assigned to Buffalo; Clem Cola, catcher now with Austin, Texas, and Mike Dooley, catcher; Ossie Kolke, Jerry Ahrens, Bill McDonald, all pitchers, and Zeke Wileman, outfielder, all with Flint Michigan.

The Detroit News recently said the Tiger organization was headed "toward another housecleaning."

Some of the men the newspaper said would be called before the Commissioner were here yesterday.

Among them were J. Alvin Gardner, President of the Texas League; George and Julius Schepps, former co-owners of the Dallas Club; R. W. Burnett, President of the Dallas organization, and Bo Goff, Business Manager for the club.

Also attending the meeting were Billy Evans, general manager of the Detroit Club; Red Rolne, and "Wish" Egan, also of the Tiger group. Jack Zeller, formerly with Detroit, but now chief scout for the Boston Braves, also was called into the meeting.

It was understood that George Trautman, President of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs (the minors) and who was General Manager of the Detroit club before Evans took over, had been asked to attend the hearing. He is scheduled to appear today, it was learned. A death in the family kept him away yesterday.

Giants' Tackle Misses Game Due to Illness

NEW YORK—(AP)—Jim White, New York Giants' tackle from Notre Dame, was taken to Cornwall Hospital yesterday with a severe chest cold and missed the game between the Giants and Chicago Bears last night.

Ex-Yankee Is Alive, Friends Were Tricked

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP)—Baseball officials discovered today that the business manager of the Oroville Red Sox team who killed himself Monday had been an imposter who hoaxed them into believing he was Julian Wera, ex-New York Yankee third baseman.

Jerry Donovan, President of the Far West League, said that many players and managers who had known Wera during his playing days in the late 1920s had accepted the masquerader as Wera.

But in Rochester, Minn., Wera insisted he is "very much alive" and his brother indicated that the man who committed suicide in Oroville, Cal., may have been a cousin, William J. Wera.

Donovan, who played with Julian Wera on the San Francisco Seals in 1931, said the "phoney" first appeared in San Francisco a year ago, claiming a distinguished war record in Italy. He told Donovan and the late Charles Graham, Seal President, that plastic surgery from his war wounds had altered his features so that they could not recognize him.

On the recommendation of Graham and Donovan, the Boston Red Sox hired Wera as a scout and as business manager of their Far West League farm club.

Talbert, Brown, Sidwell Upset

FOREST HILLS, N. Y.—(AP)—Eric Sturgess, a greyhound of a tennis player from South Africa, made his first appearance in the American championships a memorable one yesterday by blasting out Billy Talbert in a thrilling five-setter.

Seeded second only to Frankie Parker after a series of spectacular victories on the Eastern circuit, Talbert went down before the South African champ, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2, 1-6, 6-4.

The victory, first major upset of the '48 championships, shot the unheralded Sturgess into the quarter-finals where his opponent will be Earl Cochell who thrashed Felicsimo Ampon, Philippine ace, 6-2, 6-0, 6-2.

Tom Brown, Jr., San Francisco, and Billy Sidwell, of Australia, also got their lumps from a pair of West Coast sharpshooters. Sidwell, third-seeded foreign player, got romped on by Art Larsen, a 23-year-old left-hander from San Leandro, Cal., who never saw a grass court before he came East this Summer, 4-6, 6-2, 8-6, 6-4.

Brown, a finalist in the nationals two years ago, bowed in straight sets to Clarence (Nick Carter, a fellow San Franciscan, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.

York Beats Radcliffe In Play-Off Game, 3-1

YORK, Pa. — (AP) — Hugh Radcliffe, bonus hurler, owned by the Philadelphia Phillies, gave up eight hits in seven innings last night as the Wilmington Blue Rocks were defeated by the York White Roses, 3-1, in an Interstate League semi-final playoff series game.

Radcliffe, who was charged with the loss, walked eight and fanned the same number before he was replaced by George Eyrich in the eighth inning.

Wildness was the downfall of the former Thomaston High School hurler. Radcliffe allowed the initial York run to score in the first frame by heaving a wild pitch. He walked the first two men of the game and then struck out two before his wild pitch.

CHANNING COPE'S ALMANAC:

Happiness Graces Georgia Cows' Faces

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1948

Suggestion of the day: This is the day to take the livestock from the sericea lespedeza and turn them onto the kudzu.

CUD CHEWERS CHEW KUDZU

This is the proudest time of the year for us at Yellow River for it's the time we turn the cattle into the kudzu. Ever since June when the kudzu was ready for grazing we have had to explain to every person coming along the road that we were saving it for the dry Fall months.

Even good farmers who know the need for kudzu in the Fall are loathe to let it remain ungrazed when it looks so succulent and there are so many cattle needing a better brand of grazing.

Habit is a powerful factor in all our doings and most of us have had so little real grazing during our lifetimes that it excites us to see good pastures remaining idle. Most of us think it a waste to let the grasses remain until their appointed seasons.

There is no more satisfactory experience for the famrer than to plan his year-round pastures and have them turn out as planned. And at this season of the year which has wrecked so many livestock farmers' hopes and plans because of the drought three years out of four, it is nothing short of wonderful to have plenty of kudzu by which the livestock are assured a bountiful living.

It is worth the expense of growing it just to see the expressions on the animals' faces as they wade into the field hip deep in luscious kudzu and begin their happy task of consuming it. There are a million or more acres of Georgia land that need this drought-insurance plant called kudzu. Happy is the farmer who has it ready for his livestock to move in on and enjoy along about now.

These Autumn mornings are prettier than ever. Why not enjoy them with the others of the Yellow River Farm Family, WCON, at 6:00 a. m. and again at 12:45 p. m.

Until then,

Channing Cope

LSU BATTLES TEXAS

23 College Games Slated This Week

By JACK JACKSON

The nation's collegiate grid season doesn't open full blast until next weekend, but 23 games involving major teams are on top for this Friday and Saturday, with one Southeastern Conference eleven swinging into action.

LSU's Bayou Tigers make their debut under Gaynell Tinsley, who replaced Bernie Moore, now SEC Czar, as head coach, at Austin, Texas, Saturday afternoon against the Bobby Layne-less Texas Longhorns, defending Sugar Bowl champions. Tinsley has injury trouble already, and regular Fullback Bill Schroll will probably sit out the opener with a bum leg. If he isn't able to go, Rip Collins will take his place.

The teams did not play last season.

Another feature tilt sends Coach J. V. Sikes' Kansas Jayhawkers against Texas Christian at Lawrence, Kan. It'll also be the collegiate debut as a head coach for Sikes, who was end mentor at Georgia for the past several seasons. During the war, he tutored one of the Navy's Pre-Flight elevens. Last year the Jayhawkers and Horned Frogs battled to a scoreless tie.

Elsewhere in Dixie, Wake Forest is host to George Washington in the Southern Conference opener Saturday afternoon. The Deacons scored an easy 39-7 win over the Colonials last season. Other league teams seeing action are Davidson, at home to Elon, and Richmond host to Randolph-Macon, both Saturday night.

Friday night's games include (last year's score in parentheses): South Dakota State at Drake (DNP), Dubuque at St. Louis (13-14) and Utah at Southern California (DNP).

Saturday's games, beside those already mentioned, include:

Abilene Christian vs. Arkansas at Little Rock (N) (DNP), Santa Clara at California (7-33), Colorado Mines at Denver (N) (DNP), West Virginia Wesleyan at Duquesne (N) (DNP), Idaho at Oregon State (6-33), Iowa State Teachers at Iowa State (14-3), Marshall at Miami, Ohio (DNP), Oklahoma A. & M. at Wichita (DNP), Santa Barbara at Oregon (DNP), St. Mary's at Loyola, of Los Angeles (57-7), San Jose State at Stanford (DNP), Texas Aggies at Villanova (DNP), West Texas State at Texas Tech (13-20), Washington State at UCLA (DNP) and Waynesburg at West Virginia (7-60).

Ted Travels Again For Human Interest

By RITA VAN PELT

Storyteller . . . humorist . . . philosopher, that's Ted Malone, WCON-ABC's entertainer extraordinary, who is on the move again in search of more human interest yarns and local color for his programs.

Having recently returned from a three-week air tour of Europe where he learned how the average man and woman live in the aftermath of war, Ted is leaving today for a 20-day junket through the United States and will do his 11:30 a. m. broadcasts daily from many of the country's largest cities.

Dead-Eye Comics

Here's one that ought to be hilarious. . . . "The Crook With the Rubber-Soled Shoes Who Walked Backwards." . . . And guess who the tangle-footed sleuths in this screwball mystery sequence are going to be. Abbott and Costello! Musical "relief" by Matty Malneck's orchestra and vocals by Susan Miller will give . . . a breather between chuckles. . . . WCON tonight at 9.

In the Sports Dept.

An all-sports show will be featured on tonight's Tex and Jinx Show over WSB-NBC at 9 p. m. at which time guests will include Dixie Walker, Sid Gordon, Ralph Brance and Johnny Lujack.

This afternoon's baseball game scheduled for airing over WCON at 3:30 is an exciting scuffle between the Chicago Cubs and Boston Braves. Jim Woods and Les Henrikson will do the honors.

Junior Appeal

The stampede of the Yukon . . . the historic days of the Gold Rush . . . the action-packed adventures of Sgt. Preston of the Northwest Mounted Police and his wonder-dog, King . . . . all are combined in today's chapter of The Challenge of the Yukon, heard on WCON-ABC at 5 p. m.

First, Second and Third Graders are sure to profit educationally from the adventures of one "Squeegy Bug," which will be beamed into their school rooms today by WABE, the School station. . . . Understand teachers may audition next day's WABE programs between 3 and 3:45 p. m. week-daily.

Missing Wife Found in Tenn.

Mrs. Helen Moon of 725 Washington St., S. W., who was reported missing since Sept. 1, has been located in Knoxville, Tenn., Sgt. Ralph Hulsey, of the Atlanta Police Missing Persons Bureau, said yesterday.

Mrs. Moon, an expectant mother, is with her father in Knoxville, Hulsey said he had been informed by long-distance telephone.

Previously, Hulsey said a warrant had been issued against Mrs. Moon's previous husband charging kidnapping. Mrs. Helen Lowe, of Chattahoochee, mother of the girl, told police she had seen her daughter bound and gagged in her former husband's car. Mrs. Moon had secured a divorce from her first husband and remarried, the mother said.

Quiet Church Hour Attracts Citizens

By BILL BORING

She was young and pretty and blonde and she wore the nurse's white.

She was in the crowd of nurses and doctors that filed from the Doctors' Building on Peachtree Street at the nono luncheon hour.

But she seemed more in a hurry than the rest and on her face was a look of anxiety.

As she rushed down Peachtree Street toward North Avenue both men and women alike passed her admiring glances.

She was pretty all right—the kind of beauty men sometimes whistle at—and one did as she passed. Whistled low and remarked to a companion, "Wonder why she's racing her motor?"

At North Avenue she turned into North Avenue Presbyterian Church.

There was a sign outside the church, inviting passersby in for a Meditation Hour from 12 till 1 p. m.

"You are invited to spend part of your lunch hour in the quietness of the Sanctuary. You may come and go as you please. Such a period spend in the Sanctuary can give release from the tension of our hurried hearts."

The auditorium was empty when she entered; empty except for the church organist, Mrs. Walter Spivey. She was playing the music of men and of angels. A concert from heaven.

It didn't matter that the young woman was the only one in the auditorium, which perhaps would seat 1,000. Mrs. Spivey played as if every seat were filled.

For a long time the young woman sat there, alone in meditation. Then a young man entered, taking a seat on the opposite side of the church. Then a middle-aged woman, an elderly man.

After a while the young woman left. Her face was now bright. Gone was the tension.

The Hour of Meditation is something new at North Avenue Presbyterian. It is held Monday through Friday. A group of Atlanta doctors sponsor it.

If it does no more than help the young nurse, it will have been a great success, remarked Mrs. Spivey.

QUIZ CORNER: Can you guess the average size of the Georgia family and do you know whether it is growing bigger or smaller?

HOW DOES YOUR GARDEN GROW?—Well, one in the East Point section grows asters and goldenrods and larkspur and chrysanthemums and one lone stalk of cotton—with 15 open bolls.

D'JA HAPPEN TO SEE?—The house on McDonough Road with the "For Rent" sign on it?

TODAY'S ORCHID: To the Rev. J. J. Sneed and his congregation at Cascade Methodist Church for building one of the most beautiful churches in the City.

FYI: Average size of Georgia family is 4.2 persons, slightly smaller than in 1930 . . . North Avenue Presbyterian Church people hope to furnish enough old clothes for European needy to form a clothesline from the church at North Avenue and Peachtree to Five Points . . . newest member of North Avenue Presbyterian Sunday School family is Charles Seignious Dawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Dawson. Young Mr. Dawson was born Aug. 30 . . . thanks to J. H. (Joe) Bush for sending me a copy of Men of Peachtree News and for the mention of "In Our Town" . . . Incidentally, the Father-Son affair scheduled for Friday night sounds like something no Man of Peachtree or son thereof would want to miss.

BUT JUDGE ORDERS PERJURY PROBE

Cinderella Story Gets 'All Clear'

WEST PALM BEACH—(AP)—A final decree of divorce opened the way yesterday for the wedding of wealthy Francis Hitchcock and Stephany Saja, a coal miner's daughter, but Hitchcock must face an investigation for perjury.

Judge C. E. Chillingworth signed the order granting Mrs. Marie Hitchcock the divorce from her polo playing husband, and followed it with an order which stated that Hitchcock may have perjured himself in obtaining a license to wed Miss Saja before the decree was granted.

Judge Chillingworth declared:

"It appears that the plaintiff (Hitchcock) may have at a time several days hereto made application to the County Judge of Flagler County for a marriage license, which constituted perjury on his part."

He instructed State Attorney Murray Sams, of Deland, Fla., to "take such action, if any, as the facts will permit."

The decree and perjury order came on the Hitchcocks' fourteenth wedding anniversary. They were married Sept. 14, 1934, at Ridgefield, Conn.

Judge Chillingworth ordered the polo player to pay Mrs. Hitchcock $200,000 in securities, $5,000 cash, sign two West Palm Beach residences over to her, and pay all costs of the divorce.

It was not known here what effect the perjury order would have on wedding plans by Hitchcock and Miss Saja. They told friends they would marry Friday or Saturday.

Boll Worm Damage

MONTICELLO—The farmers of Jasper County are worried over the disastrous effects of the boll worms which are found in every section of the county. Until a few days ago, cotton yields were expected to reach a bale to a bale and a half an acre, but now farmers are reporting heavy loss caused by the worms. The corn and grass crops are good all over the county.

OUT ON LIMB—City Sol. Bailey C. Webber, of Ottumwa, Iowa, appeared in court to defend the City in a suit involving a man who was injured when struck on the head by a falling tree limb. When Webber returned to his car after court he found its top smashed in. A large tree limb had fallen onto the vehicle . . . Hamp Lea, Jr., of Wilmington, N. C. has offered "Miss America"—Beatrice Shopp, of Minnesota—a full-time job in his fish market. Lea explained: "I like to sell fish and she likes to clean 'em" . . . In Clarksburg, W. Va., Charles Bell Porter, 51, former treasurer of the Washington Times-Herald, plunged to his death from a sixth-floor hotel room. The newspaper revealed that the late Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, Publisher, had originally listed Porter as one of the eight employees to inherit the Times-Herald, but after he left the paper in May, a codicil by Mrs. Patterson struck his name from the will entirely . . . In Paris, Garry Davis, "Citizen of the World," said that he did not think it would be necessary for anyone else to give up his national citizenship in promoting the cause of world government . . . Arthur Curtriss, English chimney sweep who hopes to visit Premier Josef Stalin and iron out the World's problems, was joined by a believer. As he left for London from Nottingham in his small truck, Lewis Rothwell, unemployed, went along.

SUIT TO SUIT—In Beverly Hills, Cal., Esther Williams modelled a new swim suit creation, designed by her, at an aquatic show presented by Cole of California. Miss Williams says the suit is "champion swimmers' delight." . . . London critics went overboard in praise of Betty Hutton, American songstress, after her debut at the Palladium. The audience called her back for another encore after the playing of the national anthem, the signal for everyone to go home. . . . Former Premier Constantin Angelescu, 78, or Romania, died yesterday.

FLYING CROWN—Queen Juliana, of Holland, paid a brief surprise visit to England yesterday. Prince Bernhard, her consort, was with her as they arrived in their own plane during the morning and returned late in the day. . . . Britain's annual balance sheet shows that Winston Churchill is passing up an income of 2,000 pounds ($8,000) a year which he is entitled to draw from the Government for his services as leader of the Conservative opposition in Parliament or as a former Prime Minister. . . . Six colleges and universities are among the beneficiaries in the will of Charles Evans Hughes, late Chief Justice of the United States. . . . A church rebuke was read aloud to the Rev. Stewart P. MacLennan, Presbyterian Minister, for marrying film star Lana Turner and sportsman Henry J. Topping. Church law forbids ministers from marrying persons divorced less than a year. Topping had been divorced only a week from Arline Judge at the time of the marriage.

More Bibles for Overseas Object of Atlanta Group

By THOMAS M. ELLIOTT

A sponsoring committee of 29 Atlanta citizens will undertake to co-operate with the American Bible Society in satisfying the world's hunger for the Bible. There are now urgent appeals for 8,000,000 copies in the Orient, Europe and South America. A special fund of $2,000,000 will be sought in the United States through sponsoring memberships in the Bible Society of $5 upward.

Formal organization of the Atlanta Sponsoring Committee was effected Tuesday, when C. B. McManus was chosen Chairman, with Carlyle Fraser and Reese Inge as Co-Chairman, and Walter L. Richard as Treasurer.

Other members of the Sponsoring Committee are: Ivan Allen, Jr., Miss Louise Braselton, Mrs Stewart Colley, Edgar Craighead, W. A. Dobson, Hal S. Dumas, Mrs. M. B. Duggan, W. D. Eubank, Alvin E. Foster, Ray C. Lang, Alva G. Maxwell, Ralph McGill, Mrs. J. C. Malone, W. A. Parker, Fred Patterson, E. R. Paris, I. M. Sheffield, Hal L. Smith, Mrs. W. B. Suddeth, Miss Janice Singleton, Mrs. Arthur Styron, Nesbit Tilly, Brig. Gen. E. P. Tuttle, Charles R. Younts and Ben T. Largen.

In addresses during a luncheon Tuesday by Rome A. Betts, of New York, and the Rev. Benjamin H. Smith, Southeastern Agent for the Bible Society, members of the Sponsoring Committee were told of Gen. MacArthur's appeal in behalf of Japan's Scripture hunger, said to be insatiable. In Brazil the people of the churches are asking for more Scriptures than can be supplied through regular proceeds, it was stated. Northern Korea is begging for 70,000 copies of the New Testament. Nothing but Communistic propaganda is now available there, the Sponsoring Committee was told.

During the coming weeks the Committee will canvass the territory in churches and business houses, seeking enlistment of sponsoring memberships at $5 and upwards.

Queuille Rule Approved-- Informally

PARIS—(UP)—Premier Henri Queuille, who is writing a program of higher taxes and no wage increases, won an informal vote of confidence for his three-day-old government in the National Assembly yesterday. The vote was 335 to 229.

Profiting by the fate of Robert Schuman, Queuille had asked the Assembly to vote to postpone indefinitely debate on the formation of his coalition cabinet. Ignoring advice, Schuman boldly had asked for debate and, as a result, his 63-hour government fell a week ago yesterday.

The ballot yesterday was not a formal vote of confidence, but it indicated tentative general approval of the government by the Assembly. The real test will come on Friday. or Saturday when Queuille's harsh economic program is presented.

A Woman's World

LET'S SEE NOW

Votes Do Not Reflect Power

By DORIS LOCKERMAN

There is considerable curling of lips recently about the little effect women have had on elections since they won equal suffrage a couple of decades ago.

Men who once feared the girls would revolutionize government, now discount them at the polls as simply more Xs to count.

It is not so intended, but they are complimenting women, who never promised they would become bloc voters. There is no reason why they should. Their interests and tastes and needs vary with their own status in life, and naturally go hand-in-glove with the problems of their menfolks.

But nobody can judge how much the men have been persuaded to thoughtful voting by their more informed partners, nor can we ever underestimate the legislation that might never have been without their influence . . . the laws that have resulted from woman's natural concern with the well-being of their homes and families. That is the ideal result of an equal voice. It has not been articulate enough, but it has been heard.

Incidentally, there have been many reports that the recent Talmadge victory was the result, among other things, of an unceasing political activity among his followers . . . especially women. It was said his admirers worked steadily since the day the Supreme Court decision toward the moment Herman would re-enter politics for the Governor's nomination.

Their main work was patiently urging registration upon all the people they knew, and it was remarked that on election day the Talmadge helpers were able to stand by and watch the voters stream in. Their work had been done early.

It is an obvious lesson. Good government and good living are permanent goals. We do not do well to cram our efforts into hysterical spurts.

Leftover Sables

MARUSIA, the Polish-born designer who really deserves the title "fabulous," was swathed in sable on her visit to Regenstein's this week, and it was just a little thing she ran up herself. In the beginning, of course, out of muslin. The pattern was simply a pair of sleeves, resembling a crocheted bed cozy, connected by a wide swath of wonderful sable skins.

Used in its simplest form, it was a stole or a cape, worn backwards or frontwards for great drama. Midway in the shoulder piece were two tiny concealed zippers which could be unzipped for whatever neckline she wishes if she decided to wear it as a waist-length lumber jacket. The zippers could be fastened tightly for a snug waistline . . . pulled out to the shoulders for an evening decollete.

It's an idea, in case you have some old leftover mink around the house.

Atten-shun!

Today is the opening day for enlistment of women in the regular Army and the regular Navy. It will be interesting to see how women response to recruitment in peacetime, on an equal basis with men.

Deflation Note

Perfumers are working overtime, bottling their wares more economically to continue their record-breaking business of the last few years. They say a woman will buy a tiny bottle for her purse, but shies away from big extravagances. The high cost of groceries is credited with the loss of revenue in the parfum industry.

Food Notes

By SALLY SAVER

Once again club season is here with its committee meetings, bridge parties and other gatherings. This means that one of these days it will be your turn to provide luncheon entertainment or evening refreshments for your fellow club members.

To make your refreshments appetizing and appealing, try the trick of concentrating your culinary efforts on a single dish. Of course, the rest of the lunch is not to be neglected, but if you can make that one dish really outstanding and a bit different—your reputation as a hostess will certainly grow. A Fruit Salad Platter is just such an attractively impressive dish.

Here's an easy and attractive way to prepare it: Take out your best big glass salad plate or platter and arrange lettuce leaves and watercress on it. Next cut four fresh pears in half and peel and core them. Arrange the halves cut side up around the edge of the platter. In the center of each pear half place a bit of brightly colored jelly. Currant and mint jelly in alternate halves give a colorful contrast.

Cut two bananas in half lengthwise and dip in lemon juice. Now spread the cut edges of the banana halves lightly with currant jelly and then press them together again. Then slice each banana across in rounds and place the round slices in overlapping rows on the salad platter.

Leave room at the back of the platter for a good-sized mound of cottage cheese which you can top with sparkling jelly for both color and flavor. Around the cottage cheese place wedges of red-skinned apples. Do not peel them. Their red skins will add color to your platter.

French dressing and chopped nuts will complete your Fruit Salad Platter. You can either put them in a divided dish in the center of the platter or right beside it.

There are perhaps other favorite fruits that you will want to add to the platter. Choose them according to your tastes and the tastes of your guest. Just remember to arrange them as attractively as possible and to put color into the platter with shining "jewels" of jelly here and there on the fruit. Then, when refreshment time comes, take out your masterpiece and pass it to each guest so that she may pick and choose whatever fruit and dressing she desires for her own fruit salad.

Cooking Bacon

To cook bacon the easiest way of all so it becomes evenly browned from end to end is to bake it. Place overlapping slices of bacon on a rack in a shallow pan and bake in a hot oven about 12 to 15 minutes. No turning is necessary.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

Baby Name Annoys Child

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

"Jimsy!" calls Mrs. Brown. Then she is upset when she knows that though her 10-year-old son has heard her, he hasn't answered.

Later, when they are talking it over, he says, "Aw, gee, Ma, why can't you call me by my right name? Jim is all right, or even James. But this 'Jimsy' stuff—all the kids think I'm a baby."

It is hard for mothers (and fathers, too, sometimes) to give up the baby names. There is so much satisfaction, so much affection tied up with them. But, after all, we have to recognize that it's the youngster, whose name it is, that really should have the say.

You probably have heard great big hulking 20-year-olds called "Junior" or some other inappropriate name. Often, youngsters grow so used to their baby names that they don't mind them later. But if they do, we should have enough respect for their wishes to call them as they wish to be called.

Cooks Could Aid Peace More Than Diplomats

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK—(AP)—The cooks of the world around a kitchen table could do more for the cause of peace than the diplomats of the world around a conference table.

So says Mary Lasswell, author, globe-trotter and enthusiastic cook, whose new book, "Bread for the Living," follows her best-selling "Suds in Your Eye" and "Mrs. Rasmussen's Book of One-Arm Cookery."

Mrs. Lasswell, a Navy wife, has a twinkle in her eye, a gilt-edged estate in Newport and an endless enthusiasm for good food. She feels that if the world's malcontents were well-fed, they would be much less inclined to stir up wars and revolutions. And if warring nations could just invite each other in for dinner, they probably would decide to call off the shooting.

"When you live next door to an Italian family, you learn to enjoy their spaghetti and ravioli, and in return pass on grandmother's pet recipe for peach shortcake," she says. "It all makes for good international relations."

The blue-eyed, pink-cheeked author-cook thinks that the importance of good food cannot be overestimated. She challenges the statement that love is more important because, as she points out:

"When you're too old for love you can still eat."

As an aid for solving the problems of the United Nations and restoring calm to a shaky world, Mrs. Lasswell suggests that diplomats of each country be required to sample the prize dishes of other countries. And from her gastronomical travels she recommends the following:

America — Fried Chicken—The crisp kind, which can be cooked only in smoking hot pork lard.

Mexico — Enchiladas—Cheese and raw onion rolled in a tortilla and served with chili meat sauce.

England — Steak and kidney pie.

France — Boullabaisse — The Fishermen's dish of Marseilles.

Germany — Sauerbraten—Sweet-sour potroast, made by soaking the beef overnight in vinegar, seasoning with salt, pepper and sugar, browning in hot fat and cooking long and slowly in the seasoned vinegar. The gravy should be thickened with gingersnaps and the whole served with sour cream and potato pancakes.

Russia—Beef Strogonoff—Silvered sirloin cooked to a puree in butter, mixed with sliced mushrooms and served with sour cream rice and green beans.

China—Shrimp chow mein.

Italy — Veal scallopini—Thin slices of veal sauteed in butter and cooked with sherry—served always with spinach.

South Sea Islands—Coconut-banana ice cream—equal parts of coconut cream (made by mashing the meat of green coconuts) banana and a little lime juice, frozen. Yum!

"That," says Mrs. Lasswell, "is a cook's tour of the world that really would get us somewhere!"

FROM MARUSIA:

Lovely Gowns Are Like Smart Women

By MAYNITA GERRY,
Constitution Fashion Editor

A lovely dress is very much like a smart woman . . . it doesn't give all its secrets away first time you see it.

"DRAPED FANTASY"—That's what Marusia calls the sophisticated cocktail dress which she models above. It is made of an imported circled taffeta with a pencil-slim and front-slit skirt accentuated by hip draping. The blouse is simple and streamlined with a small round collar. Available at Regenstein's.

This is true of all the clothes designed by Marusia, the lately-come sensation of the fashion designing world. She is tall, blonde, statuesque and as feminine as the ruffles of imported lace on some of her taffeta petticoats.

Not only that she is married to Don Wilson, witty radio personality, who did the commentary for her third collection of clothes, presented yesterday by Regenstein's at the Biltmore Hotel at a luncheon showing.

Few designers are married to their impresarios. But, even without Don Wilson's mellifluous cadences and imposing appearance and the loving care with which he presented each garment, the clothes were something to dream about, down to the last turn of a hem or zoom of a neckline.

In a shimmering blonde pure silk twill—imported and important, there was an all-around dress with a soft made-in-one-with-the-dress shoulder line, fitted with a deep gusset under the sleeve to eliminate bulk and capable of amazing flexibility. The Mary Stuart collar arose high under the earlobes from a deeply gashed neckline, and the skirt, cut on the bias, had nests of unpressed pleats spaced at intervals around the hips and deep rounded pockets on either side.

The sleeves of this dress, as well as any number of others in the collection could be worn either pushed up or down. Practically all the dresses had self belts. They were narrow and flat and meant to be tied, or, like the belt on a dress of topaz silk rep, corded. This dress also had a Mary Stuart collar and deep, unpressed pleats in the skirt, but the pockets appeared as inverted slots on either hip and were as tricky as a Chinese puzzle.

Also included in the collection was a dramatic coat dress in imported material (black), with a tailored but feminine top. The skirt fell from a series of unpressed pleats over a soft yellow taffeta peticoat with a wide ruffle of lace. On one lapel there was a huge jet merallion, trailing teardrops of tiny jet beads.

Another, from her group of big cocktail and little dinner dresses, was of ebony brown stiff taffeta, with natural shoulders, defined bodice and voluminous skirt. It was also worn over a yellow taffeta petticoat—this time with a brown lace ruffle.

Marusia calls the elastic strips used to anchor the necklines of her quite decolletage evening gowns "social security." An example of this appears in an evening gown of silk slipper satin with the season's widest skirt and, could be, lowest neck. It's in her new color, champagne nectar, and was worn with black embroidered velvet gloves and choker.

As a gracious gesture to the women of Atlanta, Marusia also did this dress in a frosty-peach satin, and calls it Peachtree Minuet.

Life's Tangled Web

By ANGELA BROWN

Dear Mrs. Brown:

I have never had much in my life, but now in my early twenties I am holding down a job which brings me a good income and I am able to buy the nice clothes that I have always wanted. I have an opportunity of getting ahead in the company which will bring me security. On my vacation I met a man 10 years older than I. What I thought was a vacation crush turned out to be the real thiing. We live in separate cities so therefore have little opportunity to be together, so we have had to talk through letters. He makes a small salary, and says he will not consider marriage until he can support me and he does not want me to work. I am perfectly willing to give up my job and start life with him on his salary and face the future with him, but he does not see it that way. How can I convince him it is the thing to do? How can I canvince him that it is foolish to wait for marriage until we are half dead with old age?

BEATRICE.

ANSWER — Marriage looks very alluring when seen from the outside especially to a girl who has everything plus a bright future in business. Since you are so young it will be some time before you are half dead with old age, so you can forget that angle. As for convincing him, you will have to illustrate that you can work and save instead of work and spend, and that you can deny yourself pretties and good times, and put your money in the bank. After an extended object lesson in self-denial and thrift he won't be able to doubt your desire to marry him. But don't forget that when a man's pride is injured irreparable damage is done to his spirit. If he does not want you to work and he is humiliated at the thought of it, you better give this point great thought. Remember, however, in the promised land of matrimony the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker will be waiting on the doorstep of your dream house. Bills have to be paid. If his salary is small and yours is large, you are the one who must become adjusted to the reduced scale of living. On the other hand, many couples are living on their husbands' small earnings and putting it over. If I were you I would think twice before forcing him into marriage.

Questions and Answers

HEALTHY SWEAT

Is a great deal of perspiration healthy? If not, what can be done for its prevention?—(Miss D. A. C.)

Answer—A great deal of it is quite healthy. Less sweating is not so healthful. Sweating was rather vulgar a generation ago. We are getting less affected.

MENTAL TESTS

Kindly advise where I can get one of the standard mental tests. Do they arrange them for children three to five years of age? —(Mrs. R. J.)

Answer—L. M. Terman's "The Measurement of Intelligence," published by Houghton, Mifflin Company, Boston, Mass. Yes, there are standard tests for persons of every age.

PORK FOR CHILDREN

Never have I found pork mentioned in a diet list for children. Is pork harmful to young children? (Mrs. M. D. J.)

Answer—Pork is just as wholesome for children as any other kind of meat. Perhaps the old masters had obsessions about it and these queer notions survive in the modern "diet lists."

Cocktail Spread

Here's a good combination for a cocktail spread. Combine cottage cheese with finely chopped dried beef, chopped roasted almonds, salt to taste and enough mayonnaise to hold the mixture together. It's delicious on small, crisp crackers.

SALLY FORTH Says:

John Rutlands Depart Soon For Residence in Chicago

The future address of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Rutland is Lincoln Park West Hotel, 2136 Lincoln Park West, Chicago, for they are moving to the Windy City within the next few weeks. In fact, Mr. Rutland, who has been made general sales manager for an important mineral and chemical company, left last week for Chicago, and Mrs. Rutland will join him just as soon as they can dispose of their home on Woodcrest Avenue.

Their daughter, Joy, who was with the Bryn Mawr Summer Theater all Summer as publicity director and actress, returned to New York last week, but hopes to join her parents later. She spent last Winter in New York studying dramatics, and plans to continue her career in Chicago.

Joy's brother, Frank, spent last weekend with her en route to Exeter, N. H., where he will enter Phillips Exeter Academy. Frank, who is a gifted violinist, served as concert master at Transylvania Music Camp in Brevard, N. C., during the Summer, and will continue his music in Boston this Winter.

Mrs. Rutland will be keenly missed by the members of the Visiting Nurses' Association, of which she has been the capable head since its organization last February. The directors of the organization gave a farewell dinner in her honor last week at the Capital City Club in appreciation of her services, and presented her with a silver lapel pin and a bouquet of gardenias.

Though Mrs. Rutland is pleased that she will be near her sister, Mrs. M. D. Sanders, who lives in Chicago, the Rutland family is no more anxious to leave Atlanta than are their friends to part with them. They are already making plans to return here for residence when Mr. Rutland retires. And Frank has requested his parents in advance to let his Christmas present this year be a railroad ticket to Atlanta.

Valuable Prizes Offered Crochet Entries at Fair

Women adept with the crochet needle will have a chance at prizes of $1,400 in cash awards with their crocheted entries at the Southeastern Fair 1948 Exhibit.

Mrs. Gene Berkey, Chairman, Woman's Department, has announced that entries in the Atlanta fair may compete in the seventh annual crochet contest. The exhibits must be crocheted of mercerized crochet cotton.

Winner of the Grand National Championship will be awarded $200 and a free trip to New York City, and will also receive $50 as winner of first price in her classification group. Second, third, fourth and special prize money will be awarded.

Entries are coming from all parts of Georgia for the women's exhibits of the fair. Hand-made spreads, quilted, sweaters, luncheon sets, dresses, edgings or insertions, painting and watercolors, beads and bags, all handmade by women will fill the glass cases displayed in the new Benton administration building during fair week, Oct. 1 through Oct. 10.

PARADE AT 1:30 P. M.

All-Girl Band Composed Of Ex-Service Women

By BARBARA HOLLERAN

Sixty-five girls who will be traveling companions until . . . 1952 . . . are visiting Atlanta this week.

In 13 gleaming white cars, the Hormel Girls' Corps rode ceremoniously into town Monday night as lively and talented representatives of the Hormel Packing Company.

Answering Hormel's call a year ago to all American Legion posts for women with musical ability, 20 girls banded together and proved their undisputed talents by traveling throughout the country as sales crew and musical corps for the packing company. The venture was, of course, a tremendous success. Now 65 gifted women are touring the United States, giving concerts and having parades in all prominent cities.

Each girl is an ex-service woman. Therefore, as the corps is especially interested in all veterans, it will perform at Lawson General Hospital while here. A parade, too, is planned for this afternoon at 1:30. The girls in their corded gray and white uniforms and jaunty "overseas" caps will make Peachtree ring with musical comedy tunes as they swing, in rhythm with their music, through town.

Although the corps certainly has no fear of ever becoming jobless, they are nevertheless ambitious enough to go through strenuous drilling three nights a week for four hours at a time. As result of their practice, the girls received honorable mention in a contest at Stanford University after having been organized for only a week.

The Piedmont Driving Club will be the scene of many large parties. On Oct. 23 prior to the Tech-Florida game, Gen. and Mrs. A. R. Glancy will entertain 200 guests at a football breakfast.

Bon Voyage Party For Mrs. Wagar

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Deveney will entertain at an aperitif party on Saturday afternoon at their home on Normandy Drive as a bon voyage gesture for Mrs. Wilkinson Wager. She departs by plane on Sept. 21 for South America, where she will represent the United States at the International Bridge Tournament to be held in Buenos Aires.

Candidates Give Thanks For Support

Eight candidates who sought election to local and State offices in last week's Democratic Primary yesterday requested The Constitution to publish statements in which they express appreciation for support given by their constituents. Of the eight candidates, three were successful in winning nomination.

James A. Perry, who was re-elected to a post on the Georgia Public Service Commission, said: "Of the different successful campaigns that I have made for re-election to the Public Service Commission, I don't recall one that I have enjoyed more and felt more grateful than in the campaign just closed. I . . . assure everyone that I shall enter upon my work with renewed energy and a full consciousness of the trust that goes with the landslide victory that has been given me.

"I am delighted to have observed in the recent campaign an increasing interest and understanding on the part of the public of the qualifications, training and experience necessary in an intelligent discharge of the duties devolving upon this Commission."

Jack Towns, successful candidate for Fulton County Commission: "Will you please accept my gratitude for The Constitution's kindness to me during the recent campaign, and extend my deep appreciation to the citizens of Fulton County who elected me to serve them as their new County Commissioner. . . . I will do my best to justify the confidence of my friends."

Former Atlanta Councilman J. Allen Couch, who lost his race for the Fulton County Commission: "I wish to thank every friend in the county who aided in any way in this campaign and I'm sorry I could not win for them. I stand ready to render any service to anyone who allows me that privilege."

Dan Duke, unsuccessful candidate for Solicitor General of Fulton County: "I am deeply grateful to the citizens of Fulton County who worked for and supported me in my race for Solicitor General. Mr. Webb has won the indorsement of the voters and I congratulate him. I feel that the campaign which I conducted for honesty, efficiency and sobriety in public office will not be in vain, and I hope that the citizens of Fulton County will have the type of law enforcement necessary to make our county a better place in which to live."

Jesse L. Walton, successful candidate for Representative in the Georgia Legislature from Fulton County: "Deep gratitude to the friends who elected me has increased tremendously the feeling of confidence I have in my ability to do an alert and loyal job for Fulton County. . . . My election was also proof that the people of Fulton County want good, sound, democratic government, kept always close to the people. . . . They also showed, once and for all, that they will never submit to the selfish tyranny of ring politics."

G. Everett Millican, who lost in his bid for renomination as State Senator: "I am entirely satisfied by the results of the election on Wednesday. I felt very keenly the need for the enlargemnt of the City of Atlanta and made this the basis for my nomination for re-election. I wish to take this opportunity of expressing my appreciation to the thousands of voters who supported me, and I would urge that not only them but those who voted for Mr. LeCraw cooperate with him in every way possible on all matters that would be for the benefit of the people in this State. I congratulate my opponent, Mr. LeCraw, and assure him he will have my support in any and all matters. . . . I also wish to express my appreciation to The Atlanta Constitution for the very fair and impartial manner in which they presented the issues in the recent legislative races."

Roy Bell, unsuccessful candidate for Fulton County Commission: "I wish to thank all the people who supported me. It was the hardest race I have ever been in and the cleanest. There was no mudslinging. I wish Jack Towns great success in serving the people of Fulton County."

"Red" Edgerton, unsuccessful candidate for Legislature from Fulton: "The people were wonderful to me and this has been a great experience for me. I appreciate the way The Constitution presented to the people of Fulton the results of my poll of voters on vital issues. I think my contribution in the campaign was one of educating the voters as to the real issues on which they were balloting."

Frank Morrison, unsuccessful candidate for the Legislature: "I entered this race motivated by a desire to be of service to this country and to work towards a greater Atlanta and Fulton County. I believe that each of the candidates elected to the General Assembly, also, at one time or another, expressed his desire to work towards a greater Atlanta and merely differed with me as to the manner in which this should be accomplished."

Helen Douglas Mankin, unsuccessful candidate for Congress: "We did the best we could but the whole trend of the election was against us and our concept of good government. We must remember that the clock may be stopped temporarily, but no one can turn it back."

Miss Frances Rogers Marries at Chapel

Miss Frances Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Edwin Rogers, became the bride of William Robert Coleman recently at Glenn Memorial Chapel. Mr. Coleman is the son of Mrs. William R. Coleman, Sr., and the late Mr. Coleman. Rev. T. J. Spier officiated.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception at their home in East Point.

After the wedding trip the couple will reside here.

Stocks Push Up and Hold In Moderately Active Trade

NEW YORK—(AP)—Staging an abrupt reversal, the stock market yesterday gained more than enough to wipe out Monday's losses. The recovery movement started early in the day, dipped in the middle of the session, and then stocks came back at the close to finish at their best points of the day in most cases.

There was nothing spectacular in the performance, of course, unless it is viewed against the backdrop of the Monday decline. Looking at it that way, the recovery power of the list from the current average low level stands out.

The list as a whole gained .6 of a point as measured by the Associated Press Average of 60 stocks. Tuesday the average dipped .5 of a point. Industrials climbed .7 of a point, rails .5 of a point, and utilities were at the end with a rise of .3 of a point.

To complete the basic statistical picture, advances were made by 499 stocks and declines by 201 out of the 929 total of issues traded. Tuesday the figures in those three categories were 204, 527 and 924, respectively.

The rate of trading again looked good to those who hold that the present market is continuing in a bullish pattern. During the first and final hours when price rises were numerous, the volume of business exceeded Monday, and in that interim area when prices dipped there was a slackening of business to a point equal to or below Monday.

That barometer wasn't terrific, to borrow a Hollywood phrase, but as some brokers said, it at least was not pointed in the other direction to give encouragement to selling on the downside.

A new indication of market confidence was the advance announcement by a group of underwriters of a secondary distribution of 98,500 shares of F. W. Woolworth stock after the close of the market tomorrow. The concession is expected to be $1 a share. Woolworth closed at 45½, off ¼.

News from Moscow on conference in the Kremlin was limited to the usual "no comment," a phrase matched in Wall Street with "no reaction." There, her, however, been no slackening in caution over the potentially explosive situation in Berlin. Added to that was the Indian invasion of the independent princely state of Hyderabad and the appeal of that state to the United Nations Security Council in Paris for help.

A study of the effect of a Supreme Court decision interpreted as outlawing the basing point system in the cement industry got under way in Washington. The study, limited at first to private discussion, is being carried on by a Senate Subcommittee, in consultation with the Federal Trade Commission and a 40-man advisory committee established by the Senate group. Public hearings are expected to begin in November.

The outcome will be recommendations to Congress next year for action to make mere modifications in the system or retain it. The outstanding result of the court decision was voluntary abandonment of the use of basing points to fix prices by the steel industry.

Stocks in the curb market followed the lead of the big board with gains of fractions to more than a point. U. S. Treasury issues were higher in over-the-counter dealings while the bond market was steady.

Westinghouse To Get Safety Award Trophy

The National Safety Council will today give to the Atlanta plant of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation one of the Nation's highest industrial awards—the Distinguished Service to Safety Award. Ten other Westinghouse plants throughout the country will receive the same award.

Westinghouse, with 50-million man-hours worked during 1947, had an average of only one disabling injury for every two million man-hours. A "disabling injury" is one which prevents a worker from returning to the job on the day following the accident.

The ceremonies will begin at 10:45 a. m. with a tour of the Atlanta plant. Then at 11:30 a. m., Mayor Hartsfield will make an address and present the safety plaque to J. D. Whitaker, plant manager.

Members of the Plant Safety Committee are: V. L. Jacobs, Chairman; Mrs. A. M. Elder, L. B. Ivons, F. W. Adams, W. P. King and Lee Roy Wood.

Thomas Fuller is Southeastern District Manager for Westinghouse.

FHA Officials Come Here Today

Home builders and other members of the housing industry from all over Georgia will attend a meeting at the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce Building at 9:30 a. m., today, to hear FHA officials discuss provisions of new housing legislation designed to stimulate low-cost housing construction.

R. E. Matheson, State Director, and other FHA officials will outline the new FHA plans, rules and regulations. The Atlanta caucus will be one of nearly 100 such meetings being held in major cities this month, under joint sponsorship of the FHA and the National Association of Homebuilders.

U. S. Using More Oleo, Less Butter

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Americans are using more oleomargarine and less butter, the Department of Agriculture says.

The average American used 11 pounds of butter last year as compared with 16 in 1941. But he used five pounds of oleomargarine as compared with three in 1941.

The trend is the same this year, the agriculture experts said.

About 53 percent of the fats in oleomargarine in 1947 was cottonseed oil, 38 percent soybean oil and 2 percent animal fat, the Government reported.

REVOLUTIONARY RIBBON—Here's the Rib-N-Rite in action. Pretty Miss Emily Niblock shows E. Vanvliet, President of Vale, Inc., Atlanta distributors, how the ribbon attachment on her typewriter makes typewritten copies without carbons. The ribbon—similar to an ordinary typewriter ribbon—travels automatically between sheets on extra set of reels to make clean copies.

New Ribbon Attachment Boost to Typewriter Field

By MARJORY SMITH

Here's the answer to every smudged-fingered stenographer's prayer—typewritten copies without carbon paper!

Impossible? Vale, Inc., Atlanta concern established this week to distribute the Ribbonwriter Corporation of America brainchild, Rib-N-Rite, is prepared to show typists and businessmen from Missouri.

Rib-N-Rite, new typewriter attachment that automatically turns out those unsmudged copies, will be demonstrated by Vale personnel today form 1 to 5 p. m. in the Ansley Hotel's Silver Room.

It's all done with ribbon, according to E. Van Vliet, President of Vale, Inc., who thinks the attachment will "revolutionize business offices all over the country."

Miss Emily Nibleck, deft-fingered demonstrator, yesterday was drawing crowds to windows of the Vale office at 38 Walton St., N. W., as she "played with the carbonless copier. Rib-N-Rite's "key" is a ribbon similar to an ordinary typewriter ribbon which travels on an extra set of reels between pages of paper.

"The attachment fits any standard typewriter carriage and can be attached in a matter of minutes," Van Vliet declared. "The Rib-N-Rite ribbon lasts three times as long as the average typewriter ribbon—the attachment itself lasts the life o fthe typewriter."

Rib-N-Rite comes in two models, one designed to make an original and two copies. The other employs another set of reels to make possible an original and four copies.

TOO MUCH MANEUVERS

Summer Camps Limit 'Guard Day' in State

Tomorrow will be observed as "National Guard Day" throughout the nation, but Adj. Gen. Alpha Fowler said Georgia National Guardsmen are planning no special celebration, because most of them have but recently returned from Summer camps and maneuvers.

The day commemorates the date in 1940 when the National Guard was summoned into Federal service, following the declaration of a full national emergency by the late President Roosevelt, a year before the United States went to war.

It also marks the second anniversary of the reorganization of the National Guard, following the war.

In only two years of reorganization, the Guard already has grown to a strength of 317,000, a strength greater than that which the Guard took into World War II. Congress has set its strength ceiling for this fiscal year at 341,000, but the ceiling will be raised by more than 200,000 during the next fiscal year. Its ultimate strength is set at 684,000 men in 27 divisions, 12 air wings, 21 regimental combat teams, and supporting troops. This will be, Guard officials point out, an M-Day force, trained and equipped for immediate action in any national emergency.

"In war, the National Guard has fought our major battles, from Lexington and Concord to Manila," officials point out, "and in peace the National Guard has fought fire and flood, bringing relief to thousands of disaster stricken."

While the new postwar Guard is at one-third strength, nationally, the citizen force is at about half-strength in Georgia.

Negroes Petition Board For Equal School Facilities

Equalization of Negro and white educational opportunities and conversion of two white schools for use by Negroes was asked of the Atlanta Board of Education yesterday by a delegation of Negroes.

Led by S. S. Robinson, an Auburn Avenue attorney, about 60 Negroes appeared at a meeting of the Board of Education to present a petition signed by representatives of 14 Negro schools. The petition criticized a "policy of denying to Negro school children educational facilities and services equal to those offered white public school children in Atlanta."

It carried figures designed to show the Atlanta Board expends less than half the amount per Negro child it expends for each white child, urged a general expansion of facilities for Negroes and asked that Ira Street School, burned recently, be rebuilt and dedicated for use by Negroes and the Kingsberry School on English Avenue be converted for use of Negroes.

The Board took the petition under advisement and Miss Ira Jarrell, City School Superintendent, issued a statement saying the Atlanta Board of Education is attempting to do "the very things the petition seeks and when populations become preponderantly Negro we will convert the schools." She said $3,500,000 in the $10,000,000 bond issue for school improvements has been earmarked for improvement of facilities for Negroes and pointed out work already has been authorized on Irwin-Boulevard, Davis and Ware Negro Schools. She added facilities for Negroes have been improved steadily in the past several years and they will continue to show improvement.

H. D. Hamilton, of Young Street (Negro) School, offered the use of a Scout hut there for the opening of a Negro kindergarten. The offer was referred to the Board's Building and Grounds Committee for a recommendation.

The Board also:

1. Awarded a contract to Sharpe and Davis for renovation of the Davis Street School at a cost of $88,500. The existing structure, including the auditorium, will be brick veneered, renovated and modernized throughout. A cafeteria, offices and two additional classrooms will be added.
2. Authorized a holiday Oct. 1 so that Atlanta's school children may attend the Southeastern Fair.
3. Changed the school calendar so that Christmas holidays will begin Tuesday, Dec. 21, instead of Friday, Dec. 17. The change was necessary because schools opened later than was anticipated when the calendar was prepared and because the Fair holiday was granted.
4. Concurred in the nomination of G. Y. Smith as Director of Cafeterias, and several other personnel changes.
5. Voted to permit W. O. Cheney, veteran of 39 years' service and former principal of the old Tech High School, to retire.
6. Decided to oppose proposal to rezone property for business use near the new Murphy High School and to substitute bronze plaques for cornerstones on new buildings erected in the school expansion program.

Power Rate Hike Hearing Delayed

Hearings on a request for $4,250,000 in electricity rate increases annually have been postponed until Oct. 7, the Georgia Public Service Commission announced yesterday.

The rate boost was requested by the Georgia Power Company, which it proposed to accomplish by doing away with the 10 percent prompt payment discount from all rates except wholesale schedules for REA and Municipal consumers.

Commission Chairman Walter R. McDonald said the postponement was granted at the request of the Cotton Manufacturers' Association of Georgia. The Association represents several mills opposed to the increase.

World of Business

DIVIDEND—Directors of Genuine Parts Company yesterday declared a regular quarterly dividend of 20 cents a share payable Oct. 1, 1948, to stockholders of record on Sept. 20, 1948. Sales for the first six months of 1948 increased $710,692.52 over the same period of 1947. Earnings for this period equalled 92 cents per share. Since July 1, both sales and profits show a substantial increase over the similar period of 1947.

RETIREMENT—Harry G. Warren, Atlanta District Manager for the mechanical goods division of the United States Rubber Company, will retire Thursday after 25 years of continuous service with that company. A native of Indiana, Warren came to Atlanta in 1938. Following his retirement, he will continue to live in Atlanta.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE — C. Parker Persons, Regional Director for the U. S. Department of Commerce, will attend the annual conference of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce Executives' Association at Jekyll Island Sept. 16 to 18.

Atlantan Hotel Spends $250,000

Extensive renovations and improvements, at a cost of $250,000, are under way at the Atlantan Hotel, at Luckie and Cone Streets.

The improvements consist of a new lobby and a new restaurant designed to seat 150 persons. The contractors expect to finish the work by the end of October.

The owner of the Atlantan Hotel is the S. A. Lynch Corporation, which also owns and operates several hotels in Miami. Two years ago this corporation took over the operation of the Atlantan Hotel. Three months ago, H. J. Donohue came from Miami to manage it.

Disease-Resistant Tomato Developed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Development of a tomato that is resistant to disease and wilt was announced today by the Agriculture Department.

A limited supply of seed is expected to be on the market for Fall planting. A larger supply will be available for 1949.

The new variety is known as "Southland." It was developed by scientists at the Government's regional vegetable breeding laboratory, Charleston, S. C., in co-operation with workers at 13 experiment stations in Southern States.

The Department said the "Southland" has rated high in trials in the Southern States and in Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey where it has been compared with commercial varieties.

Tech Offers Again Executive Courses

The Georgia Institute of Technology will offer again this year a series of courses in modern techniques of management and production, Milton R. McClure, School Director, announced.

McClure said many Georgia industries have found these courses, given in the evening, so valuable in training foremen, supervisors and executives that they have been able to improve operating efficiency and reduce or maintain low costs of manufacturing.

Registration for the Fall quarter of the Engineering Evening School will be held Friday, Sept. 24, in Swan Hall, North Avenue and Cherry Street on the Georgia Tech campus.

Work Begun on $75,000 Warehouse for Borden

Construction of a large $75,000 warehouse for the Borden Cheese Company, a division of the Borden Company, has begun at 718 Buff St., on the Central of Georgia Railroad.

The Borden Cheese Company has signed a 10-year lease for the warehouse, which will be owned by Mrs. Helen Battle Dalon. Richard F. Dalon is contractor.

Dalon said the building would be of brick, steel and concrete construction. He explained it would have 10,000 square feet of floor space with 2,500 feet of cold storage space. In addition to a railroad siding, it will have improved truck loading and unloading facilities. It is scheduled to be completed by Jan. 1.

M. N. Shotwell, of the Borden Cheese Company, said expansion plans had prompted certain changes in personnel. He said Phil DiBona, former Atlanta area salesman, has been transferred to the Jacksonville territory, and his position has been filled by Herb Rutledge, former office manager of the Atlanta warehouse.

T. J. Rutledge, former warehouseman, has been named office manager of the warehouse here, succeeding Herb Rutledge.

Buick's Gen. Mgr. Curtice Made GM's Executive VP

C. E. Wilson, of Detroit, President of General Motors Corporation, yesterday announced important changes in GM executive and operating personnel affecting most divisions.

H. H. Curtice L. C. Goad

Some of these changes, effective Nov. 1, are:

Harlow H. Curtice, Buick General Manager, becomes Executive Vice President of GM, in charge of all General Staff activities.

Ivan L. Wiles, now Buick Divisional Comptroller, becomes a GM Vice President and will succeed Curtice as Buick General Manager.

W. F. Hufstader

Other changes, effective Sept. 16, include:

L. C. Goad, GM Vice President and General Manager of Fisher Body, will be in charge of body and assembly divisions; John J. Cronin, now General Manufacturing Manager of Fisher body, becomes a GM Vice President and succeeds Goad as Fisher Body General Manager; a separate division will be created to be known as the Ternstedt Division, with J. W. Jackson as General Manager.

In addition, Stephen M. DeBrul, now head of the social economic relations section of Public Relations, will on Nov. 1, head a newly-created business research staff; Rodger J. Emmert, Factory Manager of GMC truck and coach divisions, heads a facilities and processing staff, and Roger M. Keyes will head a procurement and schedules staff.

Port Defense Parley Slated

Gen. Raymond F. Fowler, Executive Director of the Georgia State Ports Authority, yesterday announced representatives of Southern port cities will meet in Atlanta Oct. 7 and 8 to plan for a defense against the efforts of Northern ports and Northern railroads to raise existing rail rates into Southern ports.

The new move is an attempt to penalize Southern ports, Gen. Fowler said.

"The railroads have already obtained rate increases sufficient to compensate them for increased terminal costs," Gen. Fowler continued.

Cities which will be represented at the Atlanta conference include: New Orleans, Mobile, Gulfport, Tampa, Savannah, Brunswick, Jacksonville, Port Everglades, St. Petersburg. Pensacola and Miami.

Play Equipment

VIENNA — Playground equipment has been moved to the school grounds from the Community Hour grounds. City Council authorized that this be done and the equipment will be used under the supervision of the teachers. The kindergarten, which will be held at the Episcopal Church building, will also use this equipment.

STOLEN 2D TIME

Death Weapon Turns Up Again

Dets. W. S. Acree and George Christian are wondering how often they will see a certain 32-caliber pistol.

Investigating a slaying-suicide of Patrick Luther White and his wife Aug. 17 in a North Highland Avenue hotel, the detectives traced down the death weapon and found it had been taken the day before in the burglary of a sporting goods store at 974 Peachtree St., N. E.

After the inquest they returned the pistol to the store.

Arresting Arthur Mathis, Jr., Negro, an escaped convict, Monday night, Acree and Christian recovered the same pistol again. It, along with six other pistols, was taken last Friday after someone again smashed a window in the sporting goods store.

They returned the elusive pistol to the store a second time and suggested that for the time being at least, it be omitted from the gun display window.

DR. CRAIG ARNOLD, DAHLONEGA GOLD MINER, DIES

Dr. Craig Arnold, a central figure of the Dahlonega "gold rush" of the early 1900s, died yesterday at his Dahlonega home, leaving a string of inventions and a dream of "plenty of gold left" in the North Georgia hills. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today.

Sent to Georgia in search of gold, the young Pennsylvania research engineer found both gold and "the only place to live," in Dahlonega. His keen research mind was busy on the problems of gold. Just before his death, he patented the Arnold-Mertz process of separating gold and sulphur, a project partially backed by Canada.

It was Dr. Arnold who first suggested electric lights and steam heat on trains to the Pennsylvania Railroad, his first employer. He made the storage battery possible by inventing a cell separator; and he developed the huge electro-magnet for lifting metals.

WINS AND LOSES

L. M. Lipsey, of Waycross, leader in the Sept. 8 race for Ware County Representative, has withdrawn from the runoff election because he was a strong supporter of Acting Gov. Thompson. Since Herman Talmadge won, Lindsey said his withdrawal would serve to the best interests of Ware County.

PECAN FLOOR MEET

State farm leaders will meet with Reps. Pace and Cox in Albany today to discuss a possible "floor" price on this year's bumper pecan crop, which is expected to yield a $10,000,000 income. Farmers also are forecasting new peanut records in both production and financial returns. Working feverishly to overcome recent rain delays, peanut growers have drained available labor in the Albany area to "get in" the harvest.

TWO DIE IN ACCIDENTS

James Morris, 16, of Barnesville, son of Lamar County Sheriff Gordon Morris, was killed when he was thrown from a heavy road machine and pinned under the wheels . . . Charles S. Steven, 64, Gainesville railroader, died of injuries received when he was pinned under an overturned truck on Candler Road near Gainesville.

HERE AND THERE

Two Macon telephone employees, L. T. Rumble and K. E. Williams, were awarded bronze Vail Memorial Medals for heroism for theim first aid work at a wreck scene . . . Sen. George will speak at the formal dedication of the Dublin VA Hospital today . . . Three unidentified AWOL soldiers from Turner Field were arrested at Ellaville on suspicion of auto theft after being discovered near a wrecked car.

Stomach Distress Is Gone After Ten Years of Suffering

One man recently said that for 10 years he felt like he had a brick in his stomach. This feeling was due to the lump of undigested food he always had inside of him. He was weak, worn out, headachy, swollen with gas and terribly constipated. Recently he started taking INNER-AID and says the feeling like a brick in his stomach disappeared the second day. Bowels are regular now, gas and headaches are gone and he feels like a new man.

INNER-AID is the new formula of 12 Juices from Nature's Plants. It has relieved many people who had never been really helped before by any medicine. Taken shortly before meals it mixes with your food, thus eliminating the poisons that foster stomach trouble. It will cleanse, enliven liver and remove old bile from the system. So don't go on suffering. Get INNER-AID. Sold at all drug stores.

Help Wanted—Female 30

Extra Values for Alert, Attractive Girls

A POSITION at the telephone switchboard contributes more to living than just a good salary ($29 a week to start, with 3 increases the first year).

THERE'S the satisfaction of knowing that what you're doing is important to the business and social activities of your community; the life-time value of the voice and personality development that's characteristic of the service; the enjoyment of friendly associations with girls of your age and interests, on the job and in group activities.

A NEW training class for qualified beginners starts soon . . . you are paid while learning.

TELEPHONE expansion offers opportunities for advancement in this interesting and important work. Sickness benefits. Vacations with pay.

AUTOMOTIVE

Automobiles for Sale 200
$4 PER CAR
JUST $4 PER CAR
HUNDREDS OF CARS, all makes and models, sold here at each sale for $4 each. Hundreds of individual car owners pay $4 each to display their cars for sale here. It's common sense, you can buy a better car for less from a private owner.
SEE hundreds of privately owned cars here at each sale. Select the car you want from the largest number of privately owned cars ever to be in one place at one time for sale.
BOTH individual and dealers, wherever you are, come. Plenty of good buys here. Lots of '48 and '49 models. Public Auto Auction and Sale. Three sales each week. Monday and Wednesday nights and Saturday afternoon. Sale starts at 5:30 p. m., auction at 8 p. m. each Monday and Wednesday night. Saturday sale starts at 2 p. m. Saturday afternoon.

Opening lead: King of Diamonds

The inherent right of the spectator to "kibitz" at open bridge tournaments was disputed by some of the more temperamental contestants at the recent National Championship Tournament at the Stevens Hotel in Chicago. While no specific ruling on the subject has yet been made, it is evident that the sympathies of the governing body are distinctly on the side of the gallery. Mindful of the large sums in war bonds that were raised through the sale of kibitzers seats, during the last war, the Executive Committee was not inclined to curtail the privileges of the enthusiastic bleacherites. Had the bridge players' "right to privacy" been upheld, a number of the fans would have been deprived of the pleasure of witnessing the dramatic incident recorded in the diagram above. This hand was played in the Masters Mixed Team of Four which was won by Margaret Wagar, of Atlanta; John Crawford, of Philadelphia; Helen Sobel, of New York and the undersigned.

In the bidding diagram there does not appear the scornful glance directed at West (Alvin Landy, of Cleveland) by his fair partner, at the point that he failed to stand for the double of six Hearts, which the young lady appeared to have lashed to the mast Landy's judgment proved sound for despite East's impressive holding there was no way to defeat Mrs. Sobel's contract of six Hearts.

The first round of bidding was routine, with the possible exception of Landy's one Spade bid, which to this observer appears to be good strategy. After partner fails to take action it seems not unlikely that the enemy has a slam and surely a game so that a sacrifice bid may be in order if partner happens to have some Spade support. North is unwilling to play for less than game and makes the immediate cue bid to so indicate. East's double was to advise partner of the possession of Spade values, Mrs. Sobel rebid Hearts and North was content to raise to only four Hearts, inasmuch as he had already made the grand gesture on the previous round.

The slam in Hearts can be made by playing the King of Hearts from dummy, followed by the eight which must cover. Dummy is then re-entered and another Heart lead through East enables declarer to pick up the trump suit. Scoring six Diamonds five Hearts and a Spade for a grand total of 12.

Norman Opens

NORMAN PARK—Approximately 75 freshmen registered on opening day, said Registrar Claude W. Hicks, of Norman Junior College. Pres. Wm. T. Bodenhamer gave the devotional message to the freshmen. Trammell Buckalew, Atlanta, is President of the student body.

He acted dignified and never talked, and we all thought he was wise. Then election excitement started him talkin', and it turned out he was simple.

JUST NUTS

Right-of-Way Sought

CALHOUN—City Attorney Ronald F. Chance has been directed by the Mayor and Council to bring condemnation proceedings for the right-of-way of the Rome road inside the city limits. The proceedings affect the property of three owners and city and the parties involved were unable to agree on a price for the right-of-way through the affected property.

Yule Seal Plans

CALHOUN—George Stradtman, President of the Calhoun Junior Chamber of Commerce, announces that the 1948 Tuberculosis Christmas Seal sale will begin earlier this year than last year and as usul, the sale will be handled by the Junior Chmber. Pres. Stradtman has appointed Bill Bond, Jr., to head the drive in Gordon County and he will be assisted by Henry Grady Lay, Jr., Vice Chairman. Agnes Shivers is Treasurer.
